DEDICATION

ALBERT F. HARPER
A.B., A.M., Ph.D.

We are proud of you for your attainments, for you have achieved in the face of adversity.

We honor you for your convictions for they have been sane and challenging.

We respect you for your judgments for they have been discriminating and fair.

We esteem you highly for your Christlike example for it has spurred us on to greater spiritual attainments.

We appreciate you as a friend for you have been understanding and kind in all of your dealings with us.

That is why we dedicate this issue of N. N. C.'s OASIS to you, Dr. Harper.

FOREWORD

This book of remembrance has been expressly planned to provide some reminder of the pleasurable experiences which you and your friends have enjoyed together on the campus of N. N. C., and to give a degree of permanency to the familiar scenes with which you have been associated.

Though it is but one chapter in that intriguing story of college life, may it be a valued treasure which will become an increasing source of delight as, through it, you recall the happy experiences of these four best years of your life.

IN MEMORIAM

- ERNEST E. ANGELL
- LEAH FRY SHARP
- JOSEPH G. MORRISON
- CHARLES S. CARTER

Dr. Angell, pioneer of the Nazarene movement and rugged defender of the faith, combined the optimism and earnestness of youth with the sagacity of a wise counsellor in a life that was lived well—a life of sacrificial service for others. The influence of his holy life will live on in the lives of many young ministers who have been privileged to sit under his teaching. We seem to hear him say, still,

"There followeth after me today
A youth whose feet must pass this way.
This chasm that has been naught to me
To the fair-haired youth may a pitfall be.
He, too, must cross in the twilight dim:
Good friend, I am building this bridge for him."

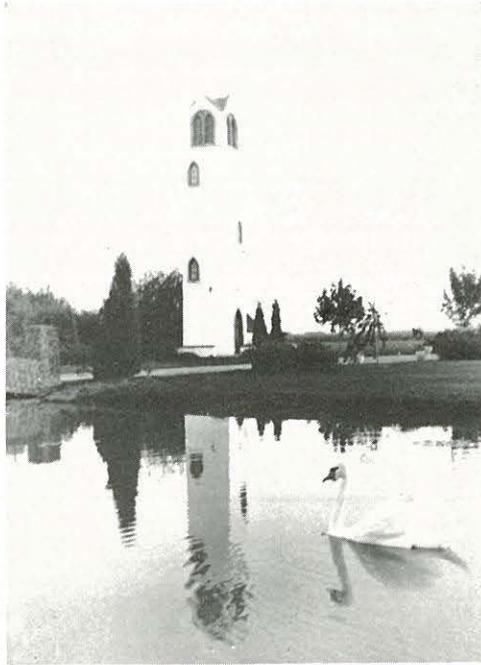

Like the rare fragrance of a scented flower, the spirit of a lovely lady lingers in our midst. Mrs. Sharp set before us the example of perfect Christian culture reflected in genuineness of character and faithful service to God, and to her family and friends. Her stay here was brief, yet how well it may be said of her, "A life spent worthily is measured by deeds, not years."

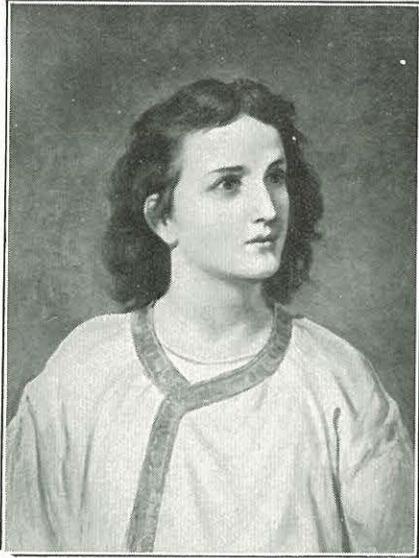

Through his many years of administrative work in the church, Dr. Morrison has proved himself to be a wise and competent leader, for back of his executive ability was the powerful influence of a Godly life and the drive of a supreme passion for those yet in heathen darkness. He has passed the banner to us. May we ever hold it aloft that the gospel message may be heralded "even unto the uttermost."

Genuine personality, refinement, keen intellect, dependability, sincerity of devotion to God—Charles Carter, a choice friend among our seniors, combined all these and more. In his brief time with us he earned the respect and admiration of everyone who knew him. Now he has graduated, not with the cap and gown of human honor, but with the robe and crown of heavenly honor and the limitless opportunities of eternal life.

"LIFE is a road, not a city of habitation; a journey, not a home; and the enjoyments and pleasures are but little inns on the roadside of life where we might be refreshed for a moment to gain new strength to press on to the rest that remaineth for the people of God."

CHRIST-CENTERED LIVES

As vital religion is an experience of the heart, being built into the very fiber of personality in such a way that it actuates each motive and colors every activity of life, so, the religious life of N. N. C. is a part of its very structure. Spirituality is not a nebulous characteristic of our school life, nor is it merely a branch of activity in our intensive extracurricular program. It is rather, a dynamic power which permeates every field of student interest, be it scholastic, literary, athletic, or social. It occupies a much larger place than that which may be designated by the restricting caption, "Religious Activities."

Christ set for us this great example of vital living. His life was intense but well-rounded; brief and exhausting, yet governed by a supreme purpose—to do the will of His Father. During those obscure years prior to His brief period of active ministry it was said of Him that He "increased in wisdom and stature, and in favor with God and man." He developed intellectually, physically, spiritually, and socially, but He never lost sight of the great mission which He voiced in the words, "Wist ye not that I must be about my Father's business?"

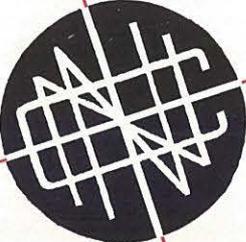

Patterned after this exemplary life, N. N. C. has built up an activity program which is at once both adequate to well-rounded personality development and distinctly spiritual in its emphasis. This is the N. N. C. which has contributed so much to our lives, and in what better way could its spirit be depicted than by representing in our annual these four essential aspects of our college life—the intellectual, the spiritual, the cultural, and the physical? We pause to honor Him who is both the inspiration and the power behind the Christ-centered lives in this Christ-centered program.

"Wisely, my son, while yet thy days are long,
And this fair change of seasons passes slow,
Gather and treasure up the good they yield—
All that they teach of virtue, of pure thoughts
And kind affections, reverence for thy God
And for thy brethren; so when thou shalt come
Into these barren years, thou mayst not bring
A mind unfurnished and a withered heart."

Again, the season of the college year has arrived when the Oasis makes its appearance. Congratulations are extended to the editor, the business manager, and the staff for this beautiful and accurate picture of life at Northwest Nazarene College.

The Oasis is an integral and important part of N.N.C. It preserves for the future the experiences of the current year. As we leaf through its pages in years to come, our minds and souls will be inspired anew to carry on the ideals of our institution. The glorious and blessed experiences of the college year of 1939-40 are herein recorded and will refresh our parched souls during many of life's desert experiences in the tomorrows.

To the 1940 Oasis staff, as well as to all members of the student body, I would charge: As you face the realities of life, and meet its problems, be loyal to the ideals of Northwest Nazarene College, and remember that "the best people don't bail out."

Yours in His service,

President.

ZETA KAPPA RHO

Because the General Board of Education of the Church of the Nazarene is now considering the foundation of a national honor society for the colleges of our denomination, Zeta Kappa Rho has been organized. While offering a concrete incentive to learning, Zeta Kappa Rho has a three-part harmonious purpose—Zeal, Knowledge, Religion. Its more purely intellectual aims are to excite mental activity, to encourage scholarship, and to inspire a conscious, methodical application of the best means of learning how to live completely.

Annual membership in this organization is gained by students who reach and maintain for two consecutive semesters a grade point average of 2.25. Permanent membership is granted to students who are graduated from the four-year college course cum laude or having an average of 2.00 or above. Graduates of previous years who have honor ratings are eligible to become members of Zeta Kappa Rho with the approval of the faculty committee on scholarship.

Zeta Kappa Rho has inculcated into its personnel individually the wisdom of Bacon's philosophy: "Some men think gratification of curiosity the end of knowledge, some the love of fame, some pleasure of dispute, some the necessity of supporting themselves by their knowledge, but the real use of all knowledge is this—that we should dedicate the reason which was given us by God to the use and advantage of man."

SCHOLARSHIP AND AWARDS

To foster superior achievement in scholastic and extracurricular work, the college presents various scholarships and awards at Commencement time to those who are judged worthy of such recognition. The highest award is the All-College Student Plaque which goes to the member of the Senior class whose student life is judged to have made the greatest all-round contribution to the college. This honor was conferred by the faculty last year upon Freda Bollinger of Spokane. The latest addition to the trophies was the Ronald J. Lush Band Trophy, donated by the band director for the purpose of encouraging achievement in that particular branch of the music department. Bonnie Bean well merited the honor of being the first individual to receive this award. The Donnell J. Smith Debate Cup, presented for superior work in the forensic activities of the college, was presented to Fred Parker.

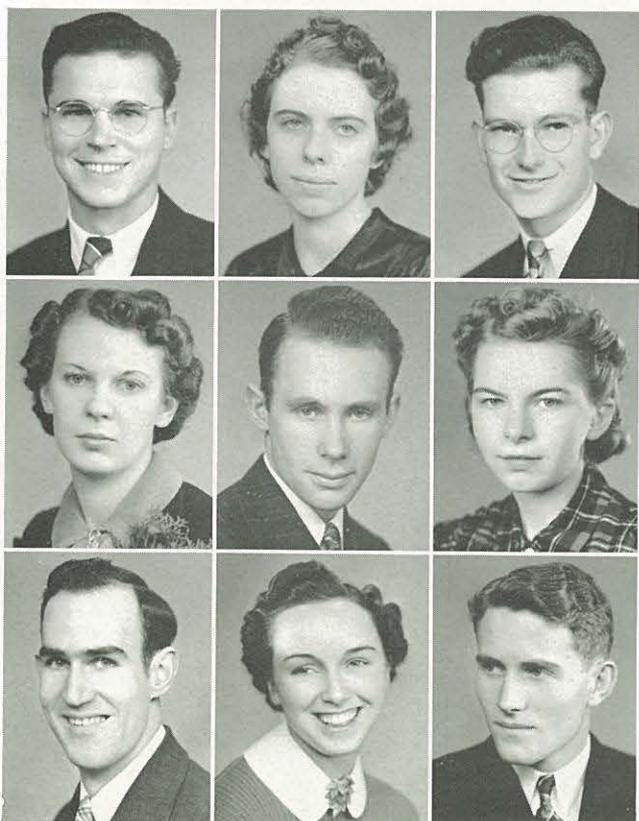

The tuitional scholarships offered by the Board of Regents are awarded to the member of the Junior class who is selected by the faculty as the best all-round student, and to the college freshman with the highest grade-point average for the year. Glenn Fraser and Eugene Culbertson tied for honors in the Senior scholarship; Geraldine Huhnke won the Sophomore scholarship by maintaining a grade-point average of 2.89 during her freshman year.

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT

The Academy and Elementary Training School, which are affiliated with the College, make possible a complete line of teacher-training work. Under the general supervision of Dr. Harper and Prof. Young, this department has established itself as a leading field of study in the College, and scores of teachers have gone out from N. N. C. to touch the lives of many hundreds of children and young people in classroom and community.

● T. GORDON FRANKLIN

When, on January twenty-seventh, Gordon passed to his reward, we lost a wonderful character from our midst. Possessed of keen intellect, breadth of interest, and attractive personality far beyond his ten years of age, he was a popular lad among college and grammar school students alike. The sunshine of his life will long remain with us.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL

Under the capable auspices of Prof. Coral O. Young, student-teachers are daily observing and instructing a group of typical American school children in average environmental conditions. Besides serving as an observational and experimental station and as a means of preparation for greater future responsibilities, the grammar school is adequately serving several scores of local youngsters by helping them to develop ideals of Christian living while "the twig is yet tender."

In every phase of school life the class of 1942 has carried its full share of the responsibilities of student activity. In music, in athletics, in scholarship, and, above all, in spirituality our sophomores have quietly assumed places of leadership.

Springing from the largest freshman class ever to enroll at Northwest Nazarene College, these future leaders of N.N.C. have shown themselves to be well able to hold high the standards of Christ which have made our school the unique institution that it is. Were we to fail in this, we would fail in everything.

But we shall not fail. The Class of 1942 will do its part to make the future of N.N.C. even brighter than its brilliant past.

Unfortunate is the man who never was a freshman. The indignities of the time loom large, perhaps, but the compensations are great. This year's initiation ceremonies were attended by the usual green caps, excessive obeisance to juniors, the boxes of soap, pennies for Poland, and so on, but a constructive program was also carried out under the leadership of the officers of the N.D.I. (New Deal Initiation). Subsidiary administrations included the F.W.A. (Works Administration), the F.C.A. (Caps), the F.P.A. (Penal), the F.F.A. (Food Authority), and F.R.A. (Recreation). All combined to make Freshman Week a memorable occasion, fittingly topped off with the official initiation ceremonies of Friday night.

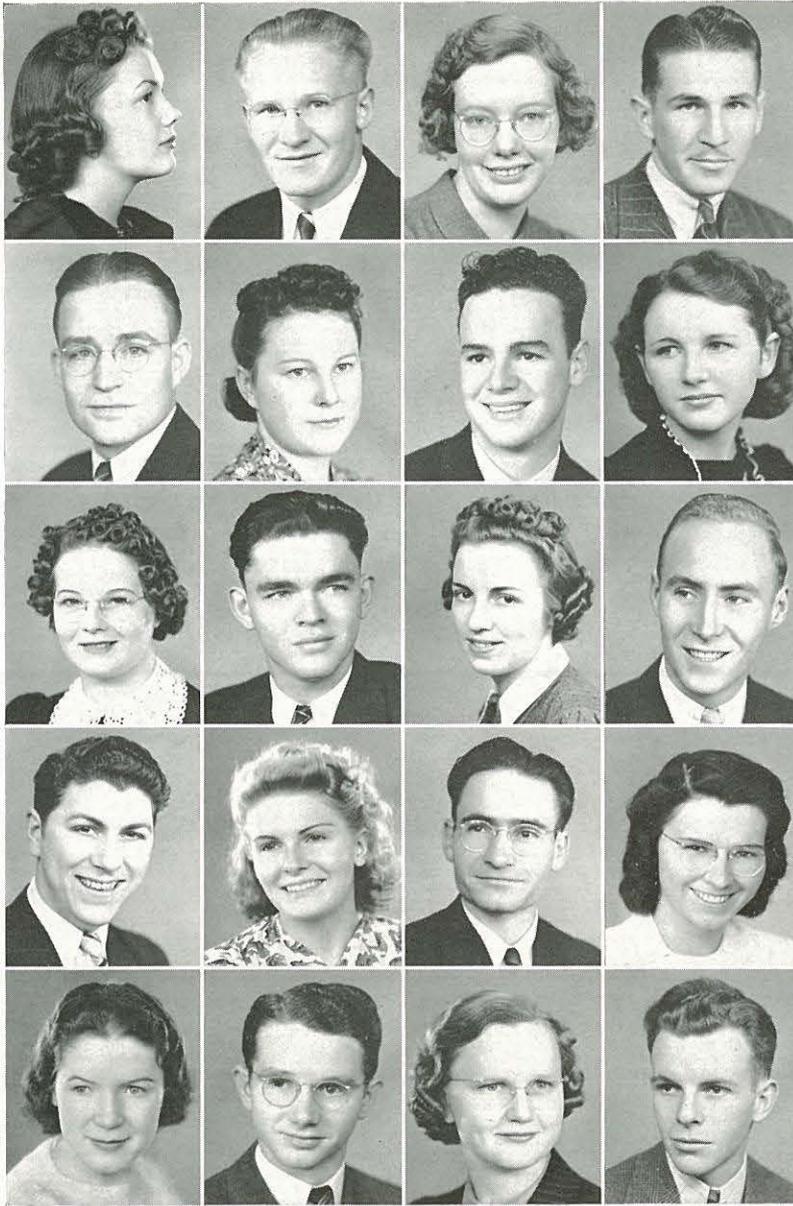

The Class of 1943 has already proved its worth, for, when second semester elections took place, several freshmen moved up into student offices in various organizations. This augurs well for the future leadership of N.N.C. We salute you, Freshmen! We extend congratulations to you on the completion of the first year of your college work. May the succeeding years be even more glorious than the promising beginning has been.

"Why are you attending Northwest Nazarene Academy?"

This question has been put to most of us at one time or another. People want to know why we chose this school instead of the public high school with its apparent advantages.

During my school life, I had always attended public schools. But on becoming acquainted with N.N.A. I found that there I would be surrounded by an atmosphere of Christlikeness and holiness which would be entirely absent in public schools; an atmosphere that would tend to lift me to a higher level of living. Furthermore, pupils of the Academy have the advantage of association with the college of which they are made to feel a part.

Of our teachers we would say we are truly grateful for their Christian lives as examples set before us and for their untiring efforts to help us into broader fields of true Christian living.

ACADEMY SENIORS

EMELINE APPLIGATE: "A merry heart makes a cheerful countenance."

BONNIE BEAN: "Of all the arts, good music is the art to raise the soul above all earthly storms."

CLARA CLARK: "It is nice to be natural when you are naturally nice."

WARREN FRANKLIN: "He is noble in every thought and in every deed."

DONALD KILLION: "A good nature is greater than a tomahawk."

JANE MOLL: "She does little kindnesses which most leave undone or despise."

MURIEL RUSSELL: "The gravest mood can scarce displace the wreaths of smiles on her face."

WILLIAM MITCHELL: "Men of few words seldom suffer defeat."

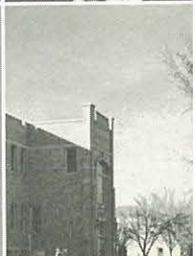

REX STANTON: "A true friend is forever a friend."

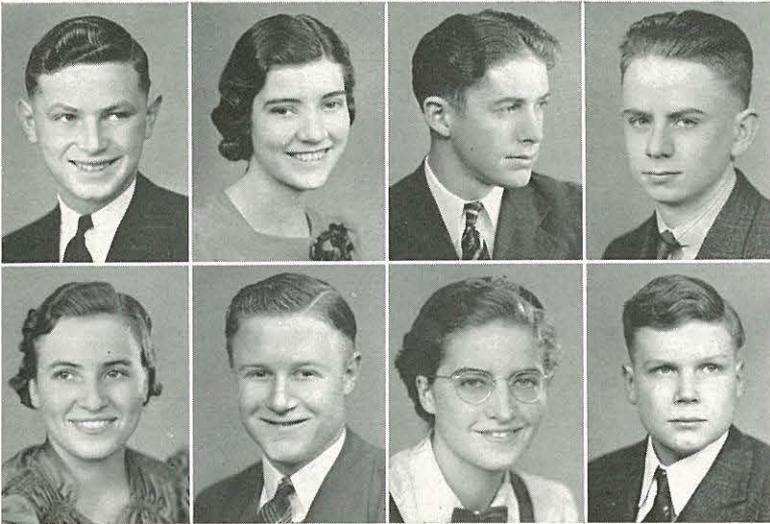

VIRGINIA PEPPLEY: "She likes whatever she looks on, and her looks went everywhere."

DOROTHY SPELLMAN: "Modest and unassuming, she is ever gracious and friendly."

DAVID SUTHERLAND: "Speech is great but silence is greater."

EUGENE STEINKAMP: "He who has patience may compass anything."

HONOR AND AWARDS

The coveted plaque, emblematic of leadership among academy students, was awarded last year to Velma Vail and David Sutherland, who were voted by the faculty as the most outstanding students. Added to this honor, David Sutherland won the academy scholarship. Scholastic distinction was accorded Ruth Mangum, who was valedictorian of the senior class. The award given for outstanding achievement in creative art and literature went to Wesley Young.

ACADEMY LIFE

The students of N.N.A. are an aggressive group. From high-scoring basketball man to haranguing debater, all are active participants in some extracurricular work. This has no doubt been encouraged by the honor system introduced into the academy for the first time this year through which honor points are given for such activities.

Although our debate teams did not enter an official tournament, they gained a great deal of enjoyment out of practice debates with Nampa High and other schools. Donna Wilson and David Sutherland, Don Killion and Wesley Young with Muriel Russell as alternate composed the teams in active participation.

When society basketball battles raged in the gymnasium, the academy lent its warriors for the conflict while the rest were there to cheer them on to victory. The players showed themselves to be true sons of the Academy.

Spring came stealing around the corner, and of necessity we applied ourselves as diligently as possible to our books during study periods. But that was only for the purpose of clearing our consciences that we might better enjoy our tennis, golf, or ping-pong during recreation hours.

In music the Academy was especially active this year. Ten members of the Academy played in the College Band and six in the Church orchestra. Bonnie Bean is to be congratulated on winning first place honors at the district contest at Pocatello last year. We had every right to be proud of our two glee clubs and the mixed chorus for the splendid work they did in their two programs presented in the College Chapel. Miss Ross has built up strong musical organizations.

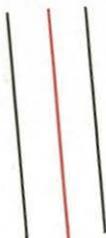

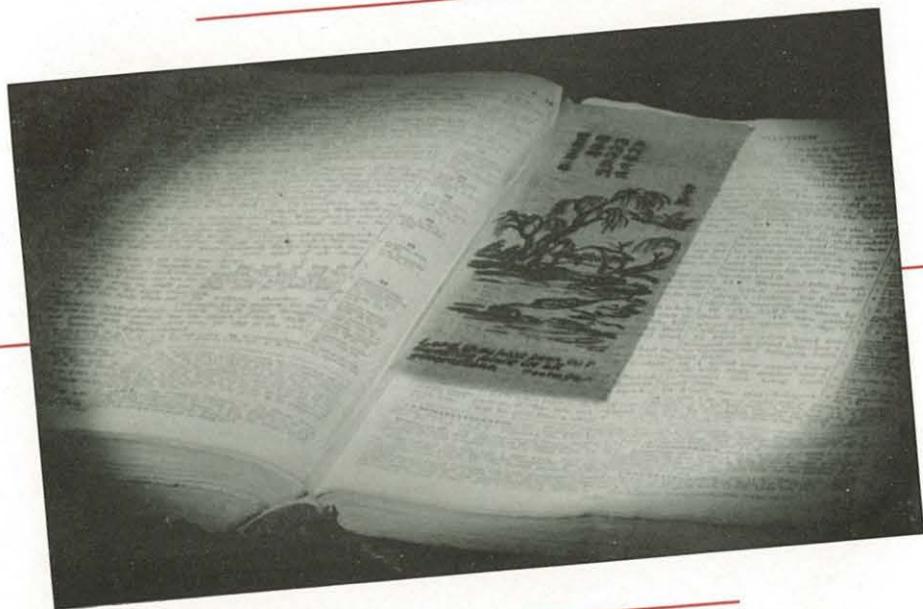

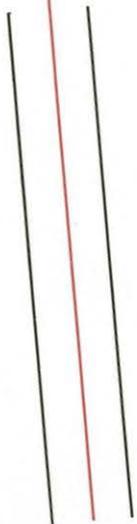

Yes, we are an active group, but we are directing our energies in profitable endeavors in every field of activity which the College presents.

THE COLLEGE CHURCH

REV. GEORGE J. FRANKLIN
Pastor of the College Church

The College Church is perhaps the most potent factor in the maintenance of a high level of spirituality in the college. Its twofold purpose is being well realized, for it is adequately providing a church home for the students and is also providing ample opportunity for the exercise of individual talent in religious services. The inspirational singing, the challenging messages, and the definite evangelistic emphasis, have combined to urge all to higher spiritual attainments. Rev. George J. Franklin, serving his third term as pastor, has proved himself to be more than a preacher, for he has been a spiritual father to many who have sought his counsel and advice in spiritual matters.

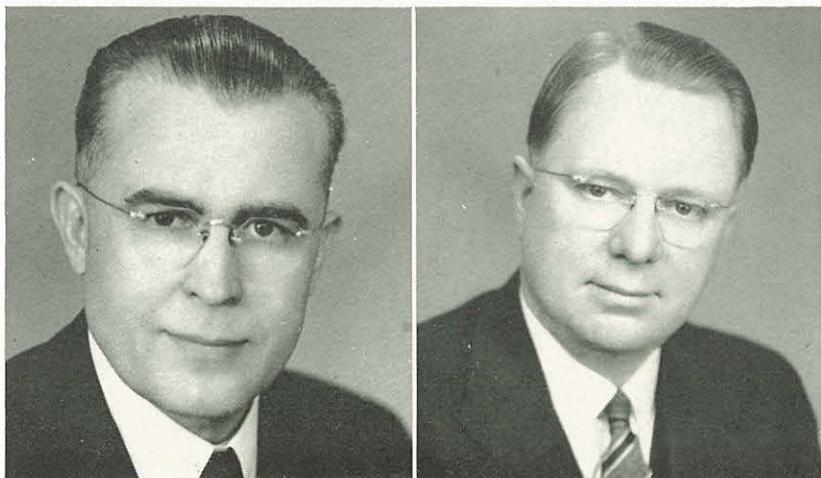

The Sunday School, led by Professor Aller, has averaged over two hundred and fifty this year. The work of the Sunday School has been very effectively linked with the Religious Education department of the college, and many students have actively participated in its various departments.

The church, organized as it is in all departments, has aggressive groups in the N.Y.P.S., Y.W.M.S., and W.F.M.S.; the first two are distinctively student activities.

The happy combination of college and church has greatly facilitated the building of an environmental condition in which Christian character can be developed and spiritual convictions deepened. These worthy aims constitute the primary purpose of N. N. C.

REVIVALS

REV. H. V. MILLER
DR. R. V. DeLONG

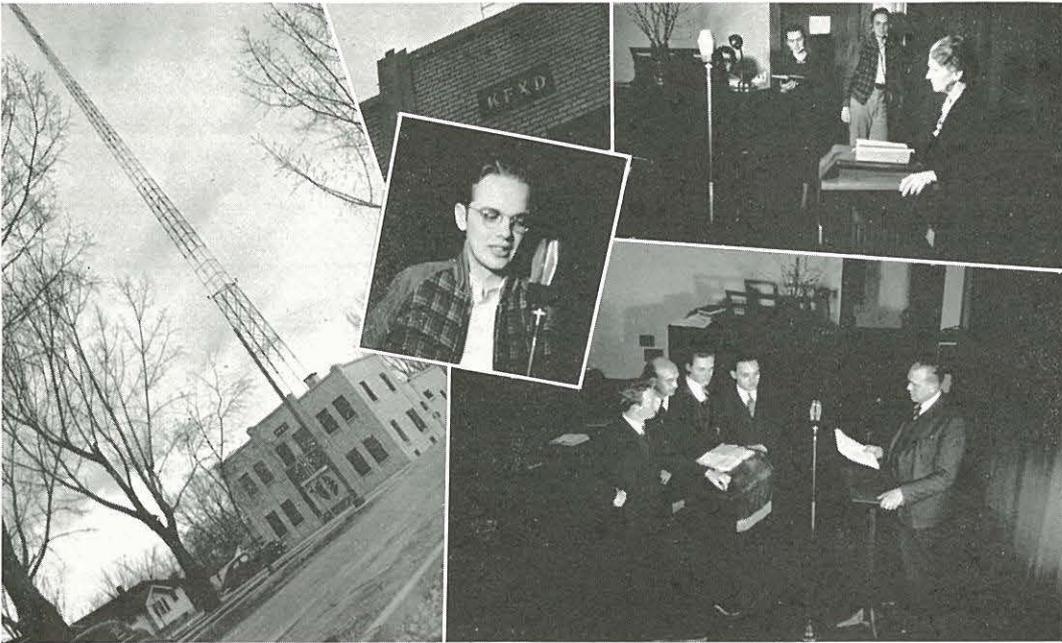

Revival fires blazed forth in three conflagrations during the school year, under the leadership of three outstanding preachers, Rev. H. V. Miller, Rev. Stella B. Crooks, and Dr. R. V. DeLong. These were the human instruments which God used to bring faculty and students alike, up to higher planes of Christian experience. The manifestations of God's presence seemed to be radically different in each meeting, and yet, the deep-seated nature of the working of the Spirit in our midst was characteristic of each of the revivals.

The masterful presentations of truth by Dr. Miller in the November revival were mightily used of God, and many hearts, willingly responsive to the call of the Spirit, sought and found God in vital Christian experience. The very lucid and constructive messages spurred everyone to deeper devotion.

The union meeting between Nampa First Church and the College Church in late February was brief but far-reaching in its effect. Mrs. Crooks, speaking in the chapel in the morning, and at First Church at night, brought searching and stirring messages that brought many seeking souls forward to the altars. The result was practically a "clean sweep" of the student body.

The spring revival in April proved to be an excellent conditioner in preparing our hearts for the final weeks of school as we faced the problem of going out from the college to encounter alone the spiritual battles of life. Dr. DeLong proved himself to be a great preacher as well as an administrator, and through the meeting some firm foundations were laid for strong spiritual structures in the future.

The college year has been characterized by the high spiritual peaks which have been reached at various times throughout the year, not only in these three revival meetings, but also in the regular Wednesday evening prayer services, the Sunday services, and in the special occasions when we enjoyed the visits of Uncle Bud Robinson, the Board of Regents, and others.

OUR FRIENDS OVER THE AIR

From our campus studios, through the remote control facilities of station KFXD, we present six radio programs each week. Our feature broadcast is "Campus Devotions," a regular fifteen-minute feature each morning at 7:45. The programs have been inspirational and interesting, and have been considered among the best presented by this station. Another radio feature is the regular broadcast of the morning worship service of our College Church from eleven to twelve o'clock each Sunday.

For several months there was a regular half-hour evening broadcast of organ melodies presented from our chapel with Professor Ella Leona Gale at the console of the Wurlitzer. This program was sponsored by station KFXD. There was a special broadcast at Christmas time of several choruses from Handel's "The Messiah," sung by the Philharmonic Choral Society.

Much credit is due the announcer, Kenneth Sulston, and the organist, Alice Roberts, who so efficiently carried out their duties each morning in the broadcasts, and to the radio committee directed by Reverend Franklin. These have been largely responsible for a very successful season of broadcasting. Thousands have been reached through the avenue of the radio, not for the sake of N. N. C. alone, but for the Kingdom as well.

COLLEGE QUARTETS

The four college quartets with their faculty leaders have done much to increase the effectiveness of our radio programs this year. Three of these quartets—"The King's Men," "The Silvertones," and "The Crusaders"—traveled in summer deputation work last year. During the school term each group has had charge of one program per week on the morning broadcast of "Campus Devotions." The variety and finish of these contributions have made our feature broadcast one of outstanding merit.

"Chapel Reveries," Dr. H. V. Miller and the AMBASSADORS.

"Beautiful Thoughts," Dr. A. F. Harper and the SILVERTONES.

"The Campus Parson," Reverend George J. Franklin and the CRUSADERS.

"The Professor and His Scrapbook," Dr. R. Wayne Gardner and the KING'S MEN.

TRAINING IN THE TRENCHES

All theory and no practice brings stagnation. An ounce of experience is worth a pound of book learning. The soldier learns the formalities of warfare in the training camp, but he makes a poor warrior unless he has faced the grim realities of front-line combat.

These ideas explain the purpose behind the work of the Christian Workers' Band, which gives opportunities to student-preachers and workers to put classroom theory into actual practice. In truth it is a small army which is getting this training in the trenches, for nearly two hundred of the students have enrolled for duty. Work is carried on on nine different "fronts" in regular services including two points at which our members are regular assistants. On the average, about forty students find active participation each Sunday conducting services, preaching, singing, or teaching Sunday School classes. Groups vary each Sunday, and new recruits are constantly being used.

Weldon Franklin, generalissimo, has done a commendable job of engineering maneuvers, and as a result some very effective assaults have been made on every territory. Besides regular outpost duty, there have been special endeavors in which our students have taken active part. A revival meeting at Red Top was materially aided by the faithful singing of the Ambassador Quartet and Dorothy Greer's piano playing. During Easter vacation Byron Lee and Kenneth Sulston held a meeting at Cascade in which many sought God. The quartets have been especially active in work throughout the neighboring communities and in the churches of the district.

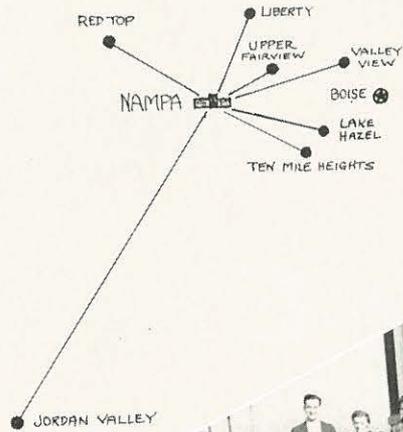

The experiences gained in active service while here in college will strengthen us for many a lone fight in the tomorrows. Experience is still the best teacher.

OUTPOINTS

The religious activities of N. N. C. have reached far beyond the confines of the campus itself, for an extensive program of outpost work has been carried on. The various leaders with their groups of assistants have gone out to their preaching points each Sunday, holding services in school houses, community halls, C. C. C. camps, and churches where the privileges of worship would otherwise be denied the people there.

Up on the "bench" above the Boise Valley is Paul Alexander's outpost of Valley View. Leland Salisbury has opened a thriving work up north at Liberty. Ten-mile Heights district and the C. C. C. camp there have been reached by Merritt Swim and his corps of workers. Nelson Ammons has been continuing the thriving work at Red Top schoolhouse, northwest of Caldwell, while to the southeast, Earl Mosteller has been carrying on at Lake Hazel schoolhouse. Seventy-five miles to the south is Bob Fleming's preaching point at Jordan Valley, our farthest point of contact.

Added to these participating in definite student projects, are students who assist Mr. Huff at Upper Fairview and who help at Carl Marble's Boise mission. Bill Rudeen is leader of a group which sings at the various old folks' homes throughout the city each Sunday afternoon. N. N. C. students are truly carrying out Dr. Bresee's great charge, "I am indebted to every man to give him the gospel in the same measure as I have received it."

To be called of God to specific service in the kingdom is the honor and privilege which has been accorded many of our students. More than eighty are now preparing themselves for active service either at home or abroad.

The Foreign Missionary Band meets every Tuesday afternoon for prayer and study, while the School of the Prophets meets once a month. Although the meetings are open to all who wish to attend, the specific purpose of the gatherings is to bring these prospective workers to a more intelligent understanding of the problems with which they will be faced, and to inspire them to a greater zeal as they endeavor to carry out the obligations of the great commission which has been given to them.

MUSIC HATH CHARMS

Music is well said to be the speech of angels; in fact, nothing among the utterances allowed to man is felt to be so divine. It brings us near to the Infinite; we look for moments, across the cloudy elements, into the eternal sea of light, when song leads and inspires us. Serious nations, all nations that can still listen to the mandate of nature, have prized song and music as the highest; as a vehicle for worship, for prophecy, and for whatsoever in them was divine.

"Out in the highways and byways of life... make me a blessing." With this stirring hymn by Schuler, the white-robed choir in processional opened all of its programs. These words expressed the sincere prayer of each member, wherever their programs were rendered.

On March 13, the choir, consisting of thirty-two members, left Nampa on its second annual tour of the Pacific Northwest. During the two thousand five hundred mile tour, the choir sang in eighteen churches, eight high schools and colleges, over five radio stations, and at one service club. This made a total of thirty-two programs rendered in fourteen days. Packed auditoriums greeted the choir in practically every place and it is estimated that eleven thousand people heard them during the tour. The itinerary took them across to southern Oregon, up the coast almost to the Canadian line, and then into central Washington; it included all the larger cities of the Northwest, such as Medford, Salem, Portland, Seattle, Yakima, Spokane, and Walla Walla.

Radio and music critics complimented Professor Doris Gale DeLong on the perfect blend of voices, the faultless diction and general technical ability displayed. One of the main reasons why she has achieved success with this group is that she has taken a sincere personal interest in each member, and has instilled into each one a desire to do his best. This year the choir had the distinguished honor of having, as their accompanist, Professor Ella Leona Gale, accomplished organist and pianist, from Boston.

Included among the numbers on the program were such old favorites as "The Stranger of Galilee," "Listen to the Lambs," and excerpts from Handel's "The Messiah." Each program was concluded with the inspiring and world-famous "Hallelujah Chorus."

In recessional the choir sang another grand old hymn, "The Church's One Foundation," and the reverent silence of the audiences as they stood was never broken until the last "Amen" was sung.

"THE MESSIAH"

"The Messiah," Handel's crowning point in oratorios, the production which comes as near being sublime as the work of man can come, again received enthusiastic praise as the Philharmonic Choral Society gave its third annual presentation in the college auditorium on Tuesday, December 19.

The chorus of one hundred thirty voices, was under the direction of Professor Doris Gale DeLong. Assisting were Professor Ella Leona Gale at the Wurlitzer organ and Miss Eleanor Lenton at the piano, with the college orchestra directed by Professor Albert Tompkins, all combining to produce an exaltation of music in which an appreciative audience found great inspiration.

This season, Mrs. Lois Barton Chaffee, contralto, and Mr. Clarence Ward, baritone, two well-known vocalists of southwestern Idaho, graciously assisted in the rendition of the impressive composition. Featured for the first time in the college history were two N. N. C. student soloists, Elizabeth Nelson, soprano, and Kenneth Meenach, tenor, both of whom gave impressive interpretations of the beloved arias and recitatives.

Although this oratorio text has little about it that is dramatic, the genius that gave such enduring popularity to an entirely contemplative work was great indeed. The sublime, the grand, and the tender music which Handel adapted to the most elevated, majestic, and moving words conspired to transport and charm the heart and ear of the discriminating audience.

Kenneth Meenach, tenor
Elizabeth Nelson, soprano

GLEE CLUBS

It is popular to sing at N. N. C. This may be largely attributable to the fact that many opportunities are given for the development of such talent. The Philharmonic Choral Society, the Glee Clubs, quartets, and A Cappella Choir, are all open to those who can adequately pass the tests required for entrance into these respective organizations. Prof. DeLong has developed somewhat of a promotional system, the ultimate goal being to win a place in the A Cappella Choir, key musical organization of the college.

FORENSIC ACTIVITIES

Especially active this year was the Forensic Club. At least thirty individuals took some active part in its activities during the year. In the intramural field the organization sponsored a debate tournament and a declamation contest between the four literary societies. In the former, a three-way tie for first place resulted, while in the latter, the Olympians won a clear victory.

The major portion of activities were intercollegiate. The first contest of the year was an invitational tournament held at N. N. C. In this tournament, the team composed of Hughlon McDowell and Burrell Ellis were undefeated. Early in November three teams were sent to Stockton, California, to participate in the W. A. T. S. Tournament held at the College of the Pacific. The teams won half of their debates and Kenneth Sulston placed in impromptu speaking. The next engagement was at the Southern Idaho Conference tournament at Pocatello. In the lower division, Gene Reineck and Donald Kelly went to the finals and finished in second place. This record was duplicated by John Sutherland and Hughlon McDowell, who took second place in the senior division.

The feature trip of the year was a twelve-day barnstorming tour of the Northwest. John Sutherland, Clarence Killion, Burrell Ellis, and Kenneth Sulston made this trip. Besides numerous practice debates, the tour included an assembly debate against Lewiston State Normal School and a luncheon debate with the University of Washington. The four debaters concluded the tour at the annual invitational tournament at Linfield College, McMinnville, Oregon. Of the fifty teams entered in the senior division, John Sutherland and Clarence Killion took third place.

The feature chapel debate of the year was against Pasadena College. McDowell and Parker, upholding the affirmative met Brown and Jackson in a nondecision debate that proved to be both interesting and profitable. The regular Pi Kappa Delta question was discussed, "Resolved: That the United States should follow a policy of strict (economic and military) isolation toward all nations engaged in armed international or civil conflict."

The major activities of the year were concluded at the declamation contest held in Pocatello, April 16 and 17. In this contest, John Sutherland, Kenneth Sulston, and Beatrice Maxey succeeded in winning three seconds and two thirds for the honor of the school. Much of the success of the squad was due to our new coach, Professor M. A. Wilson, whose wide experience in forensic work proved to be of great value in strengthening our team organization.

CONCERT SERIES

Continuing the traditions of the past, N. N. C. brought to the Boise Valley this year, premier musical attractions. On November 10, the Big Sister Club presented Professor Ella Leona Gale in an organ recital. She was assisted by Miss Zabelle Haroutunian, pianist, and Mr. Benno Sarsky, concert violinist. Prof. Gale demonstrated in a masterful way, the great possibilities of tonal quality and combinations which exist in the "king of all instruments," the pipe organ. She proved to her audience that she had well merited the coveted honor of membership as an associate of the American Guild of Organists.

For the first time in many years, valley listeners had an opportunity to hear a first class symphony orchestra, when Bohumir Kryl, master conductor, presented his group of forty youthful artists in a double program presented on Friday and Saturday nights, December 15 and 16. Kryl, using no baton, played upon his artists as it were upon the keys of a great organ, and they responded in masterful fashion. The interpretations of such composers as Wagner, Schubert, and Straus were superb. The accompanying soloists, Irene Walthers, soprano; Richard Kloko, tenor; Florian Zabach, violinist and concert maestro, and May Hopkins, harpist, delighted the audiences with their outstanding presentations. It was a privilege to hear such a distinguished group of artists.

WAYNE M. BUTCHART
President of the

Another spring! Another school year draws to a close. Commencement is near for the seniors; for the other classmen it is delayed just a few months longer. Too often we have thought of this occasion as the beginning of life and the end of education.

But as we become reminiscent over college days, we are convinced that already life has been realized. Yes, real life! For have we not lived fully and well? If we have conquered our lessons, especially the big one of learning to study, then we are prepared for the rest of life. Life is filled with many problems that must be studied and solved.

Yes, truly the time draws nigh when we must launch out from the river of preparation into the sea of life. How thankful we are that Christ is the stabilizing influence of our lives; for as we look ahead we see monstrous waves and storms that will beset us, but having "God as our everlasting partner and Christ our everlasting possession," we "press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

The student council is the administrative executive of the associated student body. It is a representative group, elected by the students, and has general supervision over all the diverse fields of student activity. It interprets the will of the majority in matters of policy, and is the mediator between the administration of the college and the associated students.

The regular duties of the council include the apportionment and distribution of student body funds to the various organizations, and the planning and directing of the student-faculty reception at the beginning of the year, the nomination of candidates for the editorship of the Oasis and the approving of staff appointments, the arrangement of Campus Day, school picnics and other special group activities, and other minor duties.

To affirm their convictions relative to the ideals and standards of the college, the council, this year, approached, personally, those whom they felt were guilty of violations, and endeavored to create a student consciousness against any lowering of the ideals which have characterized the spirit of the college through the past years. The purpose was not to usurp the authority of the Administrative Council of the college, but rather to approach the problem from a student viewpoint, and, if possible, obviate the necessity of faculty action.

Although the winning of the faculty loving cup is the material goal of our society, we have another goal which we consider to be of far greater value. This is the goal of learning the art of co-operation and of playing the game well. Welcoming competition as a means of attaining this goal, we entered this year's contest with a determination to do our best, and we are not ashamed of our record.

The experience of the nucleus of last year's Olympians, aided by the talent and enthusiasm of the new members in our ranks, enabled us to present two splendid literary programs, and to win laurels in athletics. Every Olympian is not only a loyal supporter of his society, but is also an enthusiastic booster of N.N.C.

The type of society we have is revealed in our name, Sigma Lambda Alpha—Greek letters that mean to us, Success, Leadership, and Aggression.

We have, as our aim, the development of each of our members physically, intellectually, and spiritually. The S.L.A.'s strive to keep the school motto, "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God," foremost in every activity.

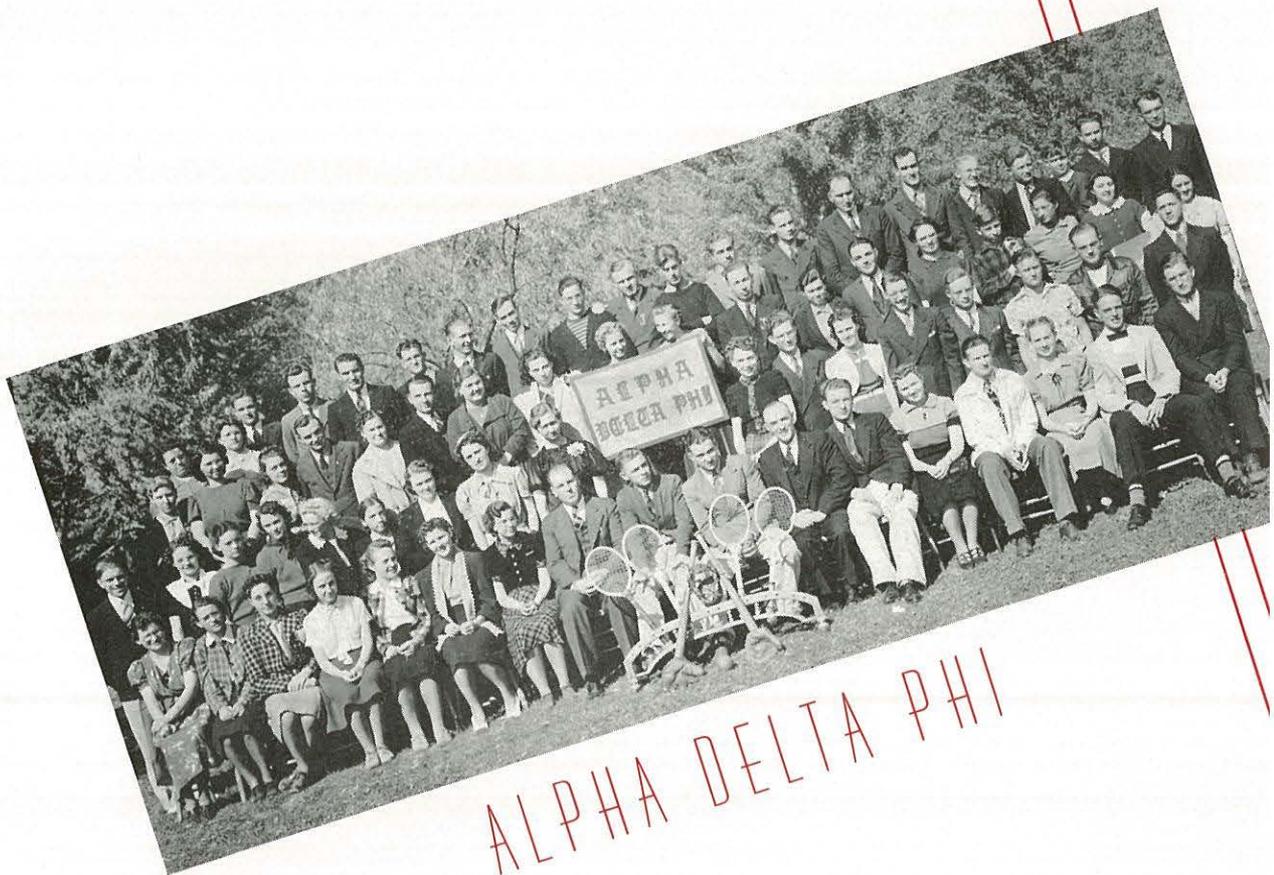

Although we have not always been victorious, we have always put forth our best efforts. Success is ours, for we feel that "it is better to have tried and failed than never to have tried at all."

More and more we are coming to realize that the greatest honor N.N.C. can confer upon an individual is to make him an A.D.P. To us, co-operation is more than a word; it is something real. Our aim is that in every activity, every member shall strive to develop a well-balanced personality.

Attainments during the year are in a large measure due to our splendid leaders—Don Lammers during the first semester, and Delbert Milholland during the second. We are proud of the enviable records which our society has established in the various activities, but we are out to Arise, with grim determination; Declare with our might; and Possess still more of the laurels which are offered to the victors.

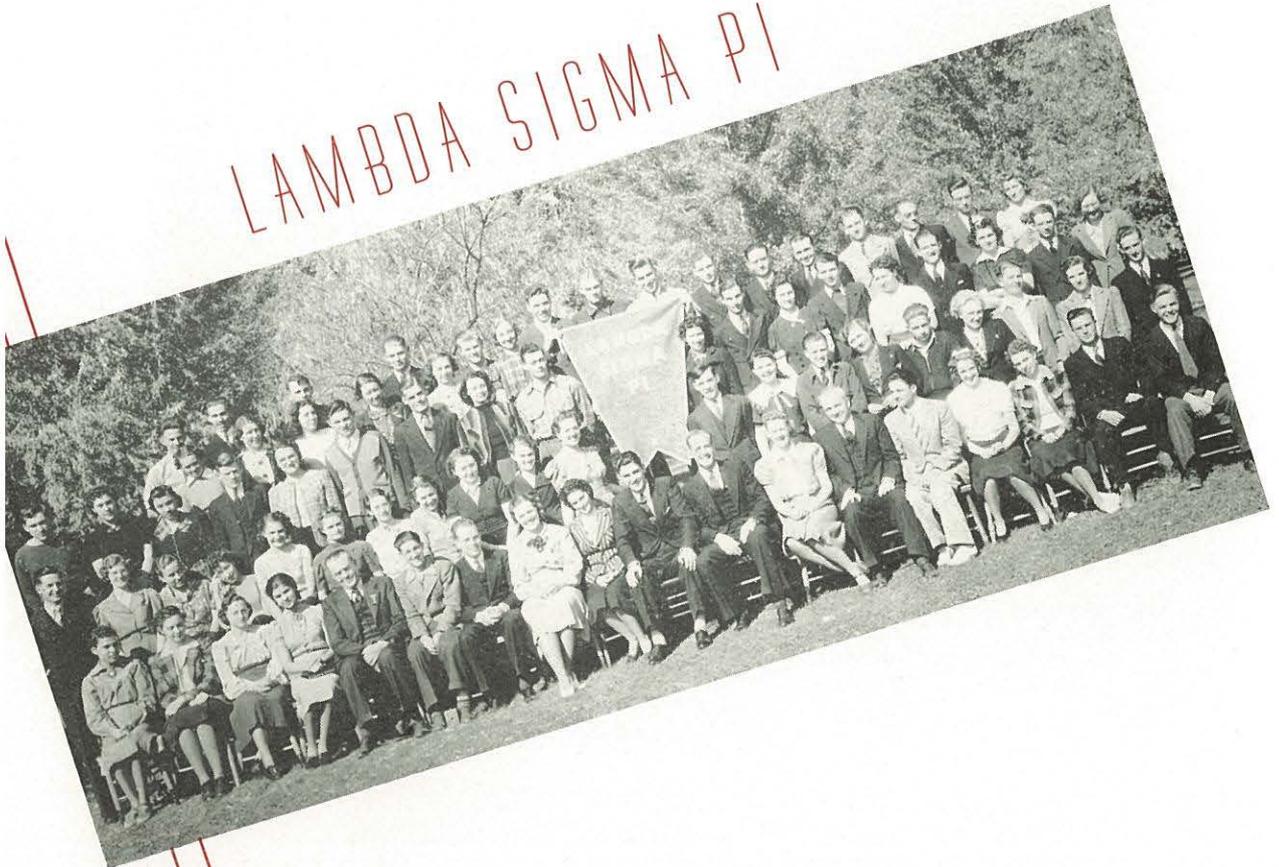

In its second year, the Lambda Sigma Pi society pushed to the front to win the faculty loving cup for the first semester. Co-operation and organization were the keynotes of success. Acknowledging the challenge of the older societies, the members have set to work with a will. Active participation in each of the events showed that their acceptance of the challenge was no idle threat. Nor have we failed in our activities to keep our school motto in mind—that of seeking first the Kingdom of God.

Spurred on by this first semester victory, and led by outstanding students of the school, the L.S.P.'s have picked up exactly where they left off and are making the contest extremely interesting. Knowing that they cannot rely on past laurels, the members have set out to establish the L.S.P. society permanently as "tops" in the school.

OUTSTANDING STUDENTS

Education means something to our leaders of tomorrow—the Who's Who students of today. It means becoming aware of life with a reasonable seriousness, even while they maintain a highly developed capacity for having fun. These students are ambitious, hopeful, and democratic. Their primary reason for going to college, in addition to preparing themselves for the chosen vocation, is to prepare themselves for life through moral, social, spiritual, and physical development.

The six outstanding students elected by the student council to represent Northwest Nazarene College in the 1939-40 volume of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" are characteristically the superior students who doubtlessly will assume the duties and responsibilities of their elders in years to come.

Wayne Butchart, as the president of the student body, has exhibited fine executive ability which, with his aptitude for philosophy and theology, reserve for him a place among the successful.

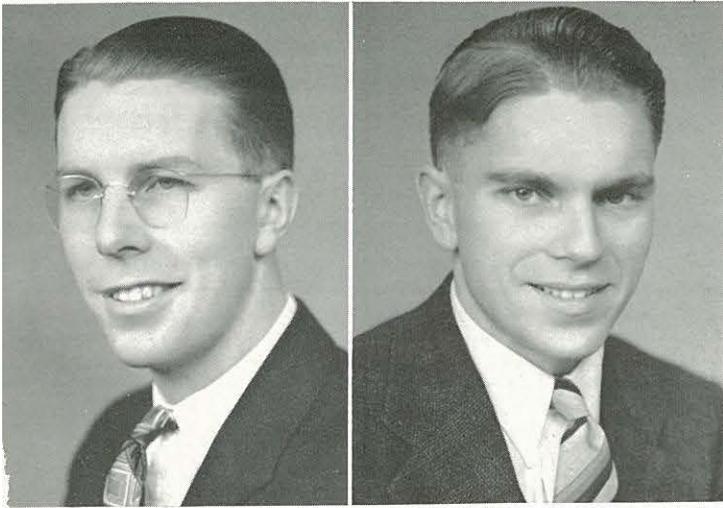

Dorothea Carroll has made superior scholastic achievements and is a prominent leader of various organizations of the college.

A versatile student, who has held many offices of executive ability during his four years at N. N. C. and still has maintained an enviable record scholastically, is Eugene Culbertson. He plans to enter the ministry after receiving his Bachelor of Theology Degree.

Weldon Franklin, whose main lines of endeavor have been in the fields of music and theology, has been outstanding for his missionary zeal and fervor and the enthusiasm with which he prepares himself for the field of India to which he has heard the divine call.

Because of the ingenuity and tirelessness with which Henry Knowles has fulfilled his duties of class and organization leadership, great success is bound to be his as he enters his chosen field of philosophy and religion.

Kenneth Meenach, with his happy combination of scholastic, musical, and spiritual prowess, can aptly be described as the "ideal American collegiate." We predict that his vitality and original good humor will continue to color his activities in the field of teaching.

OASIS STAFF

The preparation of an annual such as this entails many hours of sacrificial labor on the part of everyone who has a staff responsibility and also requires the co-operation of the students as a whole. It is a complicated task but an interesting one, and it is a pleasure to present this product of our labors to you. There are things which we would do differently had we an opportunity to do them over, but we have done our best with the experience we had and under the circumstances which we have encountered.

The editorial work has been made intriguing by the interesting and varied experiences which have enlivened the year's activities. To record the story of it all has been a pleasant one. The arduous task has been the lot of our faithful business staff. They have counteracted the disadvantages of a restricted business community to increase our advertising income by twenty per cent. We owe them a mede of thanks for this achievement.

We take this opportunity to thank all those who, though not official staff members, have contributed something to our annual to add to its value and effectiveness. We trust that every student will feel that he is a part of this book.

MEN'S CLUB

President: Virgil Rayborn
Vice-President: Paul Alexander
Secretary: John Sutherland
Treasurer: Delbert Milholland

With Virgil Rayborn, Paul Alexander, John Sutherland, and Delbert Milholland at the helm, the good ship "Men's Club" set sail this year on a successful voyage over uncharted waters. Enthusiasm ran high from the start, and the club proved itself to be a valuable asset to our student organization.

A number of projects were undertaken by this illustrious group. The first of these was a Christmas party given for the benefit of underprivileged children in Nampa. Almost sixty children were present to receive candy, nuts, oranges, and all varieties of toys. To finance this project, a pie social was previously held in the gymnasium. It is planned that this Christmas party will become an annual event.

The history of Boise Valley was very ably described by Miss Annie Laurie Bird, author of "Boise, the Peace Valley," and Mr. Warren Harper in special chapel addresses sponsored by the club.

The Men's Club and Big Sisters combined to arrange a highlight social function of the year—the Leap Year party. A hectic two weeks preceded the occasion because the girls were securing escorts for the party. The evening was spent in playing games and rendering skits. The premier event of the evening was the newspaper dressmaking contest in which Paul Yeend won first place.

With other projects being formulated for the future, the aggressive members of the Men's Club are setting a strong pace for the next year.

BIG SISTER CLUB

President: Neva Irwin
Vice-President: Doris Snyder
Secretary-Treasurer: Gladys Parker
Program Chairman: Ruby O'Berg
Literary Chairman: Eleanor Davis
Chaplain: Nona Stagner

Each new girl who comes to N. N. C. is directed and helped by her "Big Sister" in meeting students and faculty and becoming acquainted with the many activities of the school. After she has been here a year, she herself becomes a Big Sister to help others who will be entering the school in succeeding years.

The first "helper" this year was a mixer party in the gymnasium arranged for the purpose of finding out the "who, what, and where" of each individual. Next on the calendar was an informal tea for the little sisters. In return, the little sisters gave a Christmas party for the big sisters, presenting each with a gift. The most interesting event of the year was Heart Sister Week, the week preceding Valentine's Day. Each girl drew the name of some other and, secretly, a mysterious heart sister did something nice for her every day of that week. The identity of these "heart sisters" was revealed on Valentine's Day.

The outstanding feature of the year was the Formal Commencement Tea given for all commencement guests. During the year, monthly meetings have been held to discuss various subjects of interest. The main project of the club was to furnish the parlor of the girls' new dormitory.

The girls have tried to be a help to each other spiritually, morally, and socially and have created a spirit of friendliness among all.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

The world is today facing a crisis of unparalleled importance. With the second world war now being desperately waged no one is able to predict the future. Nations have been invaded and subdued in just a few weeks. The map of Europe is constantly being changed. Nations which were peaceful yesterday may become today a battleground on which the major powers will match their strength. Aggressor nations resort to barbarous tactics as they attempt to gain their selfish desires.

Look at the picture today. Austria has been joined to make a greater Germany. Czechoslovakia has now lost its independency. Poland exists no more. Finland, after a noble attempt to resist invasion, has been forced to grant the demands of her more powerful neighbor. International law is being disregarded as the democracies of Europe battle against Hitler. International affairs have this year been of the greatest interest to the student.

The International Relations Club exists for the benefit of the students who are especially interested in international affairs. Throughout the year it has sponsored outside speakers, and sought to inform its members by distributing literature and conducting round-table discussions. On two occasions the entire student body was privileged to hear speakers sponsored by this club. To be informed on world affairs is more than a pastime; in these troublous days it is a necessity.

"For when the Great Scorer comes to write against your name, He writes not that you won or lost, but how you played the game."

INTRAMURAL SOFTBALL

Shortly after the opening of school in the fall, Kurtz Park, directly across from the campus, became the scene of many hard-fought battles in one of the most popular sports in the country—softball. It is an ideal game for our type of athletic program and has probably had more participants and more fans than any other sport in the school.

The A.D.P. men edged out the L.S.P. aggregation in the final game, which was packed with high-class ball. An outfield error gave the A.D.P.'s the winning margin. The A.D.P. sweep was complete when the girls' team won a clear-cut victory in their division over the second-place S.L.A.'s. The S.L.A.'s and L.S.P.'s tied for total second-place points, each taking a second and a third.

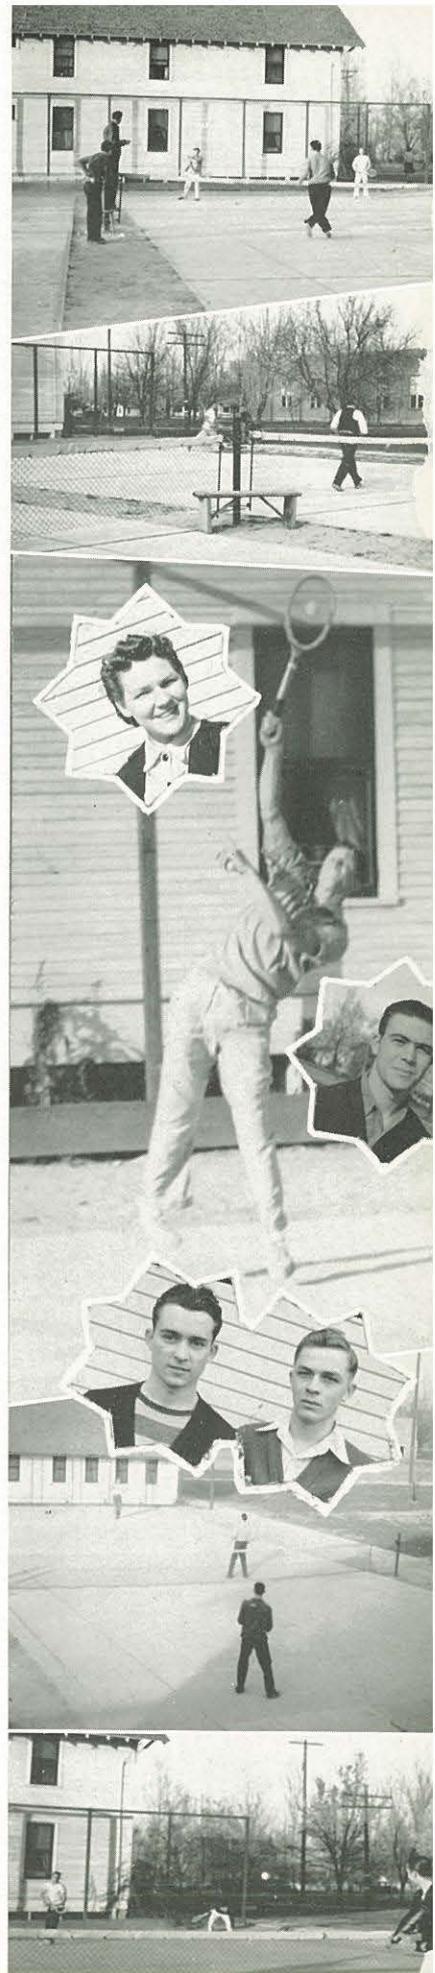

The spring baseball campaign opened with the usual diamond fever running high, and the arch rivalry of the softball season was carried over from the fall. The championship resolved itself into a pitching duel with the A.D.P. and L.S.P. teams again leading.

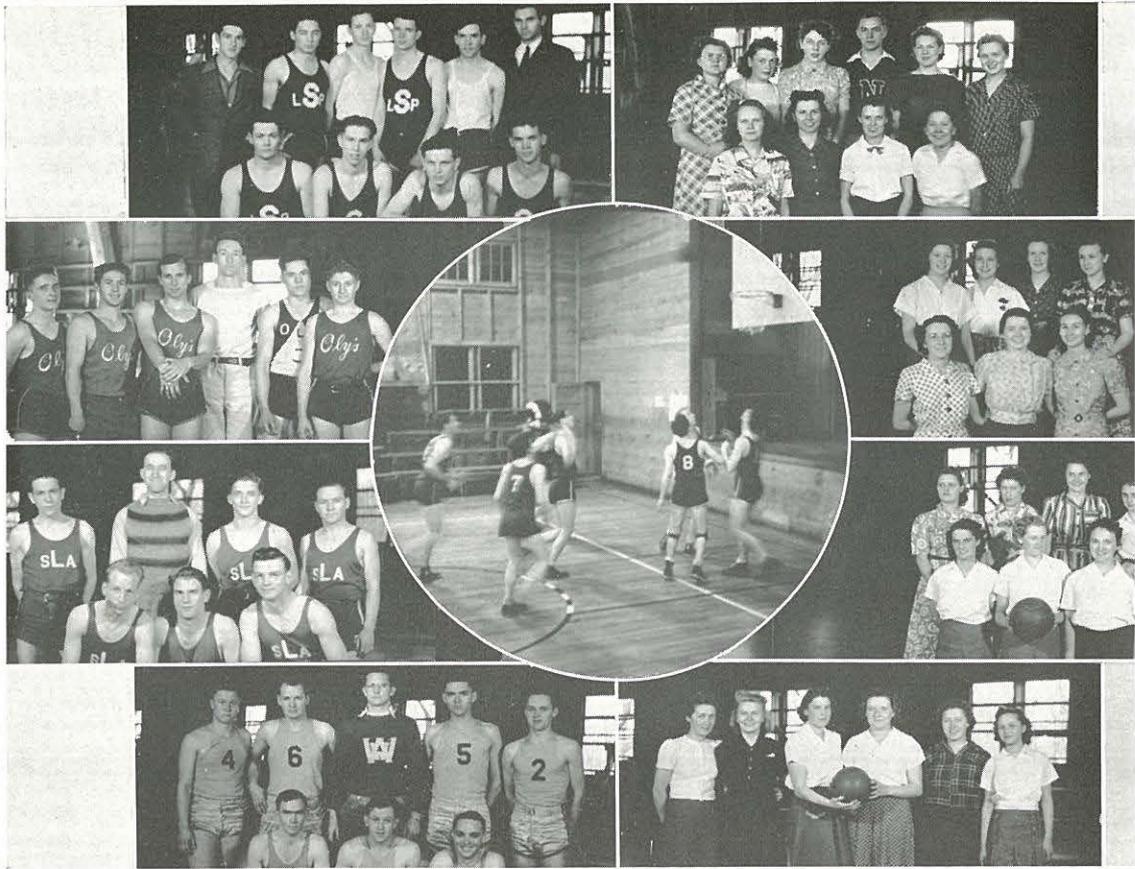

America's national sport has its faithful devotees and capable players at N. N. C., and the crowds in the bleachers always saw interesting games.

TENNIS

The "twang" of tennis rackets and the "zing" of tennis balls are familiar sounds on the campus throughout the school year. Many of the students find tennis to be an ideal recreational pastime, and the four cement courts are kept busy.

The intersociety contest was marked by long, gruelling games and many deuce sets. Esther Schwab, A.D.P., defeated Joan Mangum of the Olympians to become women's champion. Archie Wilson, S.L.A. star, edged out the A.D.P., Crawford Vanderpool, who was last year's champion. Esther Schwab and Crawford Vanderpool combined to defeat Marjorie Axelson and Paul Yeend, L.S.P.'s, in the mixed doubles' championship. Men's doubles were taken by Crawford Vanderpool and Ira True, A.D.P.'s, in an exciting match against the S.L.A. stars, Archie Wilson and Paul Mangum.

BASKETBALL

Varsity lettermen were barred from competition in intramural basketball, but the high calibre of games played in the intersociety competition showed beyond question that not all the player-talent was in the varsity squad. There were a few weak games on the schedule, but most of them were fast and keenly contested.

The A.D.P. girls carried their softball supremacy into the gymnasium to repeat their victories on the basketball floor. The L.S.P. boys took a slight edge over the S.L.A.'s to win honors in their division.

This year, intramural basketball drew larger crowds than usual. This was, no doubt, due to the fine games, the closeness of the competition, and to the fact that the points offered for such a major sport had a vital bearing on the outcome of the intersociety race for the faculty loving cup. There was the further observation to make—that there appears to be no dearth of material for future varsity squads, and basketball will still maintain its popularity at N. N. C.

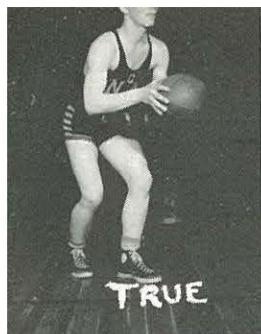

INTRAMURAL VOLLEYBALL

Although volleyball is not a major sport at N. N. C., it is a popular winter game and important enough on several occasions to decide the winner of the faculty loving cup. The Sigma Lambda Alpha took the opportunity to capture some needed points by taking first in boys' and second in girls' volleyball. However, they had to share honors with the Olympians, who took first in girls' and second in boys'.

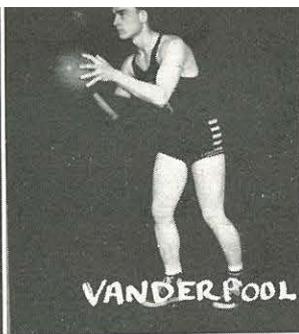

For second honors the Lambda Sigma Pi and the Alpha Delta Phi split third and fourth places in the same way.

Several exhibition volleyball games were played on various occasions, the most interesting being the challenge game between faculty and seniors. The "absent-minded gentlemen" had to bow before the more agile young men but not without an exciting contest.

THE CRUSADERS

With "Christ first, victories second" as their motto, the Crusaders of 1940 maintained the enviable reputation which N. N. C. basketball teams have established throughout the Northwest, that of being ideal sportsmen as well as good ball players.

Led by big Earl Mosteller, high-scoring captain who averaged over fifteen points a game, our team outscored the opposition by a total of one hundred and thirty points in the nineteen games played. Highlights of the season included the barnstorming trip taken through the Northwest, and the game played during the Christmas holidays with the Harlem Globe Trotters—outstanding negro professional team. It is interesting to note that four of the seven losses sustained by our team were to the flashy Eastern Oregon Normal squad and two to professional teams.

With four sophomores on the first string and the likelihood that every member of the team will return next year, Coach Adler has a nucleus which promises to present formidable opposition to opponents in the coming year.

ACADEMY BASKETBALL

Staging a remarkable comeback from the previous season, whose record was rather inglorious, the Academy basketball team came into its own again this year. With the stalwarts of last year's squad augmented by the newcomers, Don Coston and the Davis twins, Coach Mangum had some fine material to work with, and he did produce a fine ball team. In a schedule which was featured by many close scores, the players fought well, won worthily, and lost graciously in true N. N. C. style. As a pocket edition of the varsity Crusaders, they have upheld ideals as well as played good basketball. A record of games played is as follows:

MINOR SPORTS

The policy of giving everyone a chance to participate in some phase of athletics is made possible by the varied program of miscellaneous sports.

Competitive tournaments in golf, horseshoes, track, and ping-pong are included in the intramural schedule. Aside from participation for competition, these various sports offer the student an excellent means of recreation in the occasional spare hours.

Interest in weight lifting has been unusually keen this year; the competition among the fellows and the physical exercise obtained in vying for honors in the various events has been valuable. A complete set of barbells has been set up in the basement of the boys' dormitory, making it convenient for the fellows to work out regularly.

Another phase of the athletic program which has been emphasized this year is track. Each year, during commencement week, a track and field meet is held. In preparation for this annual event, many budding track stars have trained faithfully for several weeks. To quicken interest in this field of activity, the college offered this year a five-dollar prize to anyone who established a new college record in any event during the meet. There was a noticeable increase in the number who were training this spring, and the result was damaging to existing records.

CAMPUS DAY

Not even a necktie held things together on Campus Day. Rigged in gay, yet pathetic, attire, students and professors broke away from all formality and went to work with the pick and shovel, with the broom and duster, and with the paint brush and the ladder. The results were indeed trim and bright.

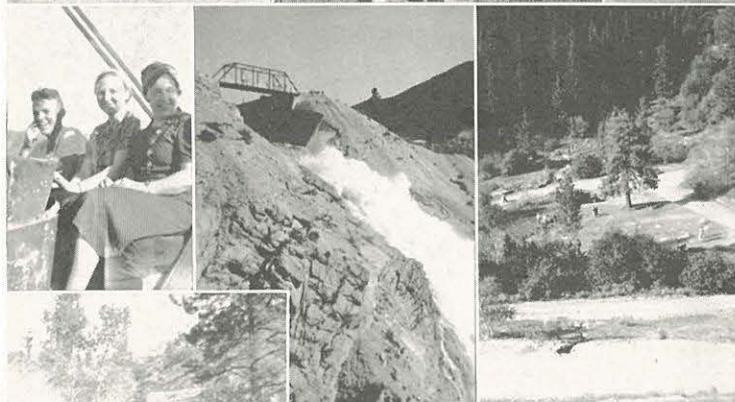

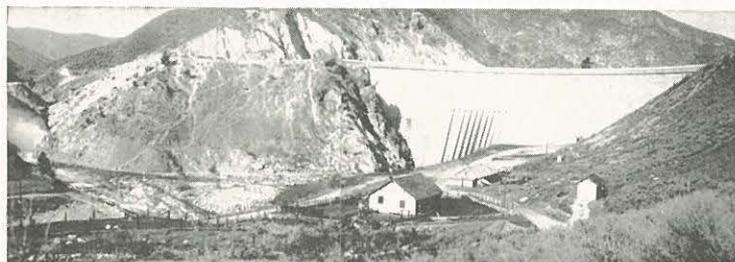

After many hours of labor, the groups gathered in the athletic field to watch two interesting baseball games. The faculty took a sound beating from the Academy, while the Sophomores ran up a convincing score against the rest of the school.

Appetites, intensified by good physical exertion and bracing air, were quickly revived at the traditional Campus Day wiener roast, whence the crowd retired to the gymnasium for a program of skits presented by the various work crews.

It may not have been a "perfect day," but it was a profitable day in every way. Co-operation was excellent, and industry was all that could be desired.

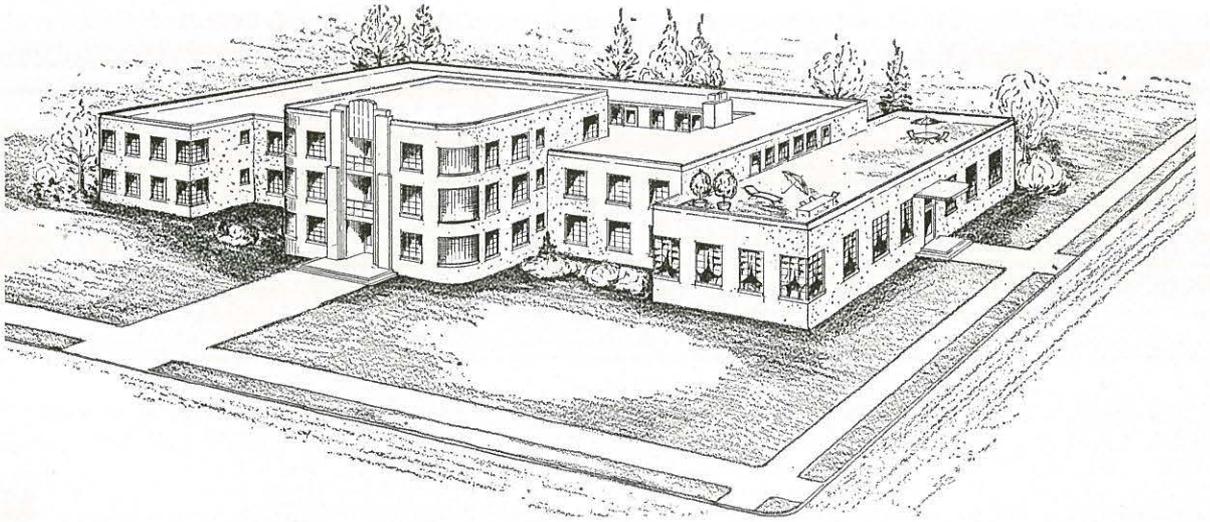

ALL SCHOOL PICNIC DAY

The rollicking gaiety with which groups of carefree students gathered for the early morning truck ride, the smell of the "piney" mountain atmosphere as the caravan approached the hills, the delectable wholesomeness of a ham-and-egg breakfast beside a roadside campfire, the inspiring beauties of nature viewed from the hypnotic stage of "dull care dethroned" — all these impressions will linger with us as we recall the annual spring picnic day. For on that day students and faculty took to "gypsying" and answered the call of the open road. Mountain climbing took on heightened interest. Class groups hiked conglomerately. Noon lunch came as a boon to whetted appetites. The splendors of primitive nature enthralled our spirits.

At the approach of evening all students gathered for the climaxing event—the building of a blazing bonfire for roasted "hot-dogs," buns, and coffee. Finally it was home again, through the falling dusk and by the light of the moon, with the glorious feeling that comes from a day well lived in God's great outdoors.

MORRISON HALL

On the afternoon of Thursday, April 25, we gathered for a great history-making occasion. We were breaking ground for the new dormitory on the section of land recently added to our campus south of Kurtz Park. This was a time of rejoicing, for it seemed that this little ceremony signified the realization of a long-sought-for goal. Furthermore, this rite was an expression of faith in the future of our college—a faith which was attested to in the chapel service that morning, when students and faculty combined to pledge more than six thousand dollars toward the furnishing of the new building.

A new dormitory was a necessity, especially with the overcrowded conditions of the past few years, and yet it took two years of patient effort to make possible the construction of such a building. Fully modern and fireproof in every respect, the building will accommodate one hundred and twenty young women and will also include a dining hall in the west wing.

Before the campaign to raise funds for furnishing the new dormitory was ever intensively launched, many rooms were memorialized. The building itself is to be called Morrison Hall in honor of our former president who passed away this year while in the office of general superintendent of the church. It will be a monument of memories to many illustrious graduates, former students, and faculty members, several of whom have already passed to their reward.

- Sun.-Sun. 17-24. Opening convention. Dr. Miller thrilled us with the possibilities of Christian living which he brought out in his messages.
- Sat. 23. Heaven bent low today and called Mrs. Sharp home to glory.
- Fri. 29. The first formal function of the year was held tonight—the Student-Faculty reception. It's fun to get acquainted.

OCTOBER

- Mon.-Fri. 2-6. Reign of the N.D.I. (New Deal Initiation). The juniors did the freshies up in fine style.
- Tues. 3. Oasis picture day. Yes, and after the pictures the tug-o'-war across the irrigation ditch.
- Wed. 4. We had a wonderful prayer meeting tonight—over forty at the altar. Dr. DeLong left for the east tonight, and we all saw him off.
- Tues. 10. The upperclass boys traced the clues set out by the girls, and had a "splendiferous" time with them in the Moose Hall.

NOVEMBER

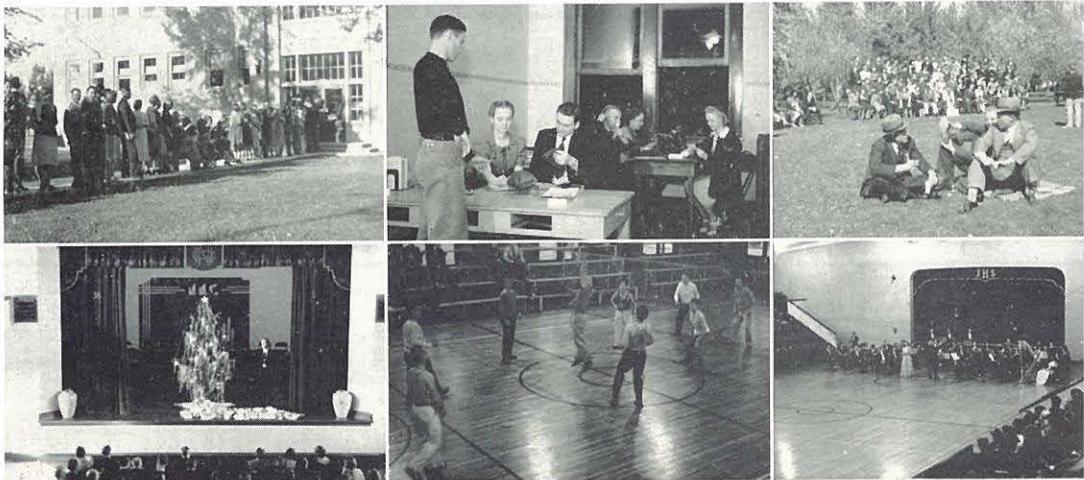

- Wed. 8. With a roar and a crash, the Men's Club was organized this morning.
- Fri. 17. The A.D.P.'s presented their contest program, "Still Waters Run Deep," centered about the Thanksgiving theme.
- Sat. 18. The debaters left for the W.A.T.S. tournament at Stockton, California, going by way of Reno (of all places).
- Sun.-Tues. 19-28. Doctor Miller conducted our fall revival. It did not last long, but it had long-lasting results.
- Thurs. 30. Mr. Gobbler was done full justice today. It was Thanksgiving.

DECEMBER

- Fri. 1. "What am I offered for this fine gooseberry pie?" A good old-fashioned pie social raised the necessary cash for a Christmas party for Nampa's underprivileged children.
- Sat. 9. Charles Carter, a much-loved friend among our seniors, passed away.
- Fri. and Sat. 15, 16. Kryl, master conductor, brought to us two thrilling programs of symphony music.
- Tues. 19. The Philharmonic Choral Society gave its third annual rendition of Handel's "The Messiah" to a capacity audience tonight.
- Wed. 20. "The Lost Carol," depicting the story behind "Silent Night, Holy Night," was shown to us by the S.L.A.'s in their contest program.
- Thurs. 21. "Good-by, and Merry Christmas. See you next year!"

JANUARY

- Wed. 3. Classes resumed today. I hardly had a chance to say hello while I was home.
- Sat. 6. Our varsity men defeated Weiser Vocational School in approved fashion tonight.
- Fri. 12. We defeated Lewiston by a "whisker" tonight. Keep it up, Crusaders.
- Mon. 15. "So what?" Dr. Gardner made powerful use of a common phrase and set our minds to some deep thoughts.
- Fri. 19. The L.S.P.'s contest program, "Grant Us Thy Peace," depicted the tragedy of war in striking fashion.
- Tues. 23. The midnight oil burns these nights. Semester exams are on.
- Sat. 27. Death knocked once more today, and took Gordon Franklin, a rosebud for God's kingdom.
- Mon. 29. The Olympians continued the war-versus-peace theme in their contest program, "God or Mammon?"
- Tues. 30. The tables were turned tonight, and the girls escorted the boys to the Leap Year party in the gym. It was a lot of fun.

DIARY

SECOND SEMESTER

FEBRUARY

- Mon. 5. Folks said it couldn't be done, but they did it. The L.S.P.'s won the faculty loving cup.
- Sat. 10. The Zeta Kappa Rho honor society had a party. Some stayed away to study.
- Tues. 13. The basketball boys returned after a successful trip around the Northwest.
- Tues. 20. We had an enjoyable visit from the Pasadena debaters. We probably enjoyed the extras thrown in, more than the intellectual delights of the debates.

MARCH

- Fri. 1. Dr. DeLong returned from the east with Buick II, and a Ph.D.
- Sun. 3. Our joint revival with First Church concluded. Mrs. Crooks was a great preacher, greatly used of God in the brief meeting.
- Tues. 12. "Be Ye Resurrected," the Olympian's contest program, served to strengthen our faith in the risen Lord.
- Wed. 13. The A Cappella Choir left on its second annual tour. The Regents gathered for their spring session, and Uncle Bud Robinson came to us for two days' services.
- Fri. 15. The loan has been granted! We're going to have a new girls' dorm.
- Wed. 20. Spring vacation began. All we need is the Spring.

APRIL

- Mon. 1. The boys fried their own eggs this morning, and the girls didn't even show up.
- Tues. 2. Prof. Tindley's sacred concert thrilled and inspired us.
- Fri. 5. We had one of those happy, free-and-easy parties in the gym. The imitation faculty meeting was touching.
- Fri. 12. Class parties are always such fun, but they were especially enjoyable tonight.
- Mon. 15. We welcomed Cascade College A Cappella Choir, as they presented a program in chapel.
- Wed. 17. Commencement is not far off. Seniors donned academic regalia for the first time in the Investiture service this morning.

- Wed.-Wed. 17-24. The brief revival with Dr. DeLong was climaxed with a mighty outpouring of the Spirit on the final day.
- Mon. 22. We bade farewell to Dorothy Davis, '39, as she left for Africa.
- Thurs. 25. A momentous day! Six thousand dollars pledged by students and faculty for new dormitory, and ground-breaking ceremony this afternoon.
- Mon. 29. Campus Day. (It didn't rain.) The campus had a real face-lifting.

MAY

- Fri. 3. The beauty and joy of living was impressed upon us in the L.S.P. contest program, "The Garden of Life."
- Fri. 10. Dawn, mountain trails, campfires, laughter, nature's beauty, all made picnic day a glorious occasion.
- Mon. 13. Fine ladies and gentlemen moved about the halls, for this was the night of the Junior-Senior banquet in Boise.
- Oasis Day. 'Twere best to know a streamlined way of writing your name.
- Fri. 17. The S.L.A.'s presented the responsibilities of life in a new way in their program, "Behold the Light."
- Thurs. 30. What a disastrous day for records in track and field!
- ???. The seniors are off somewhere refreshing themselves for the final rush of Commencement. We will miss them next year.
- Fri. 31. The A.D.P.'s completed the athletic-literary contest in presenting their program, "Mirage of Life."

JUNE

- Sat. 1. Music was the keynote of today. The traditional Fine Arts program was enjoyed by all.
- Sun. 2. Baccalaureate Sunday brought us renewed inspiration and blessing.
- Mon. 3. The school has closed once more, and we must go our many ways. We pray God's blessing upon our scattered group this summer.

60% of Our New Members Are Young
Persons Like YOU!

Six persons in every ten who are TODAY becoming members of Idaho Mutual Benefit Association are under 26 years of age. You, too, will be interested in learning the many advantages offered by

The Life Policy That Will GROW With You!

Here is an example of how an Idaho Mutual policy can GROW with you and keep pace with your protective needs:

TODAY you can put a $500 Idaho Mutual policy in force at a cost of only $2.50. Up-keep cost for such a policy has never exceeded $5.00 a year. That is probably sufficient protection for you at the present time. However, as your income and responsibilities increase, you can increase the amount of protection given by your policy to any amount up to $3000.

This exclusive Idaho Mutual feature, plus the fact that most young persons of today realize the importance of carrying life protection, partially explains why such a large proportion of our new members are under 26 years of age.

The fact that in time of youth, the wise youth begins to prepare financially for the later years, also leads many young persons to become Idaho Mutual members.

Every Idaho Mutual policy includes old age benefits. When the member has reached an old age and is no longer able to do useful work, he may receive cash settlement for his policy. Amounts receivable vary according to age of member when policy was arranged for. When membership is arranged at the age of 20 years or under, THE FULL FACE VALUE OF THE POLICY IS PAYABLE AS AN OLD AGE BENEFIT.

Recommended By Authorities

Idaho Mutual policies give the KIND of protection that is recommended by leading financial authorities—protection free of expensive speculative and loan features.

For YOUR protection, write to us for free printed information.
