DEDICATION

We of the 1949 Oasis Staff find it in our hearts to dedicate this issue of the Oasis to you. Your fourteen years of conscientious service for the advancement of God's Kingdom through the achievement of a more scholastic N.N.C., we feel deserves this honor. We have drawn inspiration from the depth of your quiet, but devoted Christian example. Your practical judgment tempered by sincere faith has served to stabilize the vacillating, prod the hesitant, and restore to balance those with wavering faith.

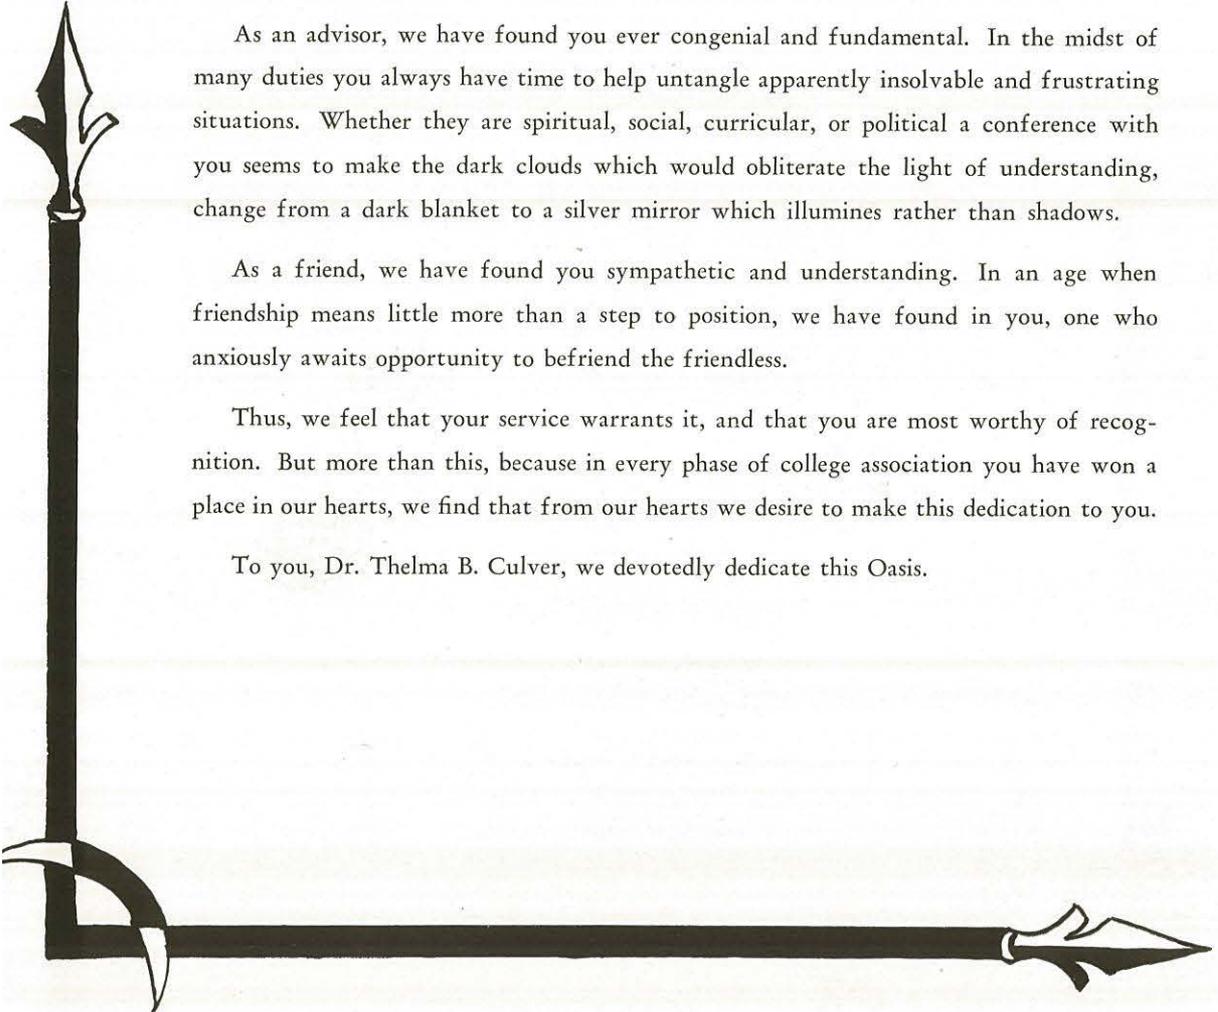

As a teacher, but still a student, your poise and assurance, springing from a comprehensive understanding of student problems, has stimulated our intellectual endeavor. In the classroom or out of it your ability to detect the real problem and frame it with the light of understanding has proved invaluable in dispelling intellectual doubt.

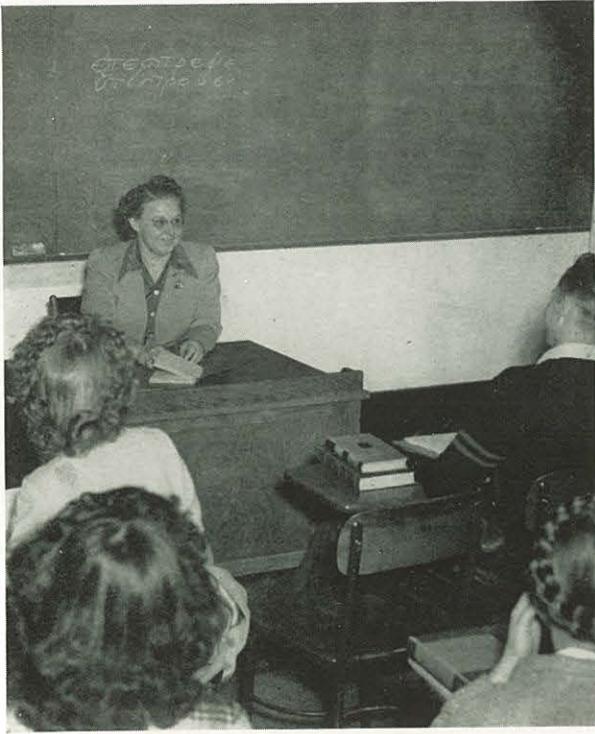

As an advisor, we have found you ever congenial and fundamental. In the midst of many duties you always have time to help untangle apparently insolvable and frustrating situations. Whether they are spiritual, social, curricular, or political a conference with you seems to make the dark clouds which would obliterate the light of understanding, change from a dark blanket to a silver mirror which illumines rather than shadows.

As a friend, we have found you sympathetic and understanding. In an age when friendship means little more than a step to position, we have found in you, one who anxiously awaits opportunity to befriend the friendless.

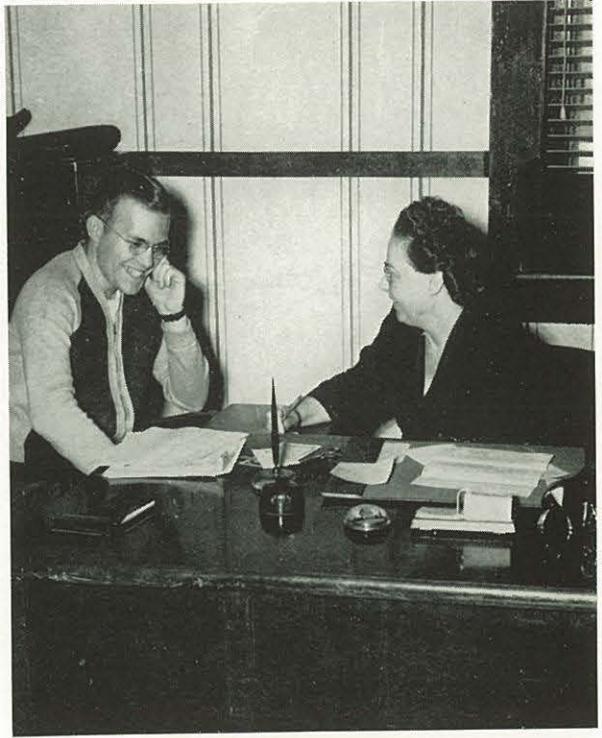

Thus, we feel that your service warrants it, and that you are most worthy of recognition. But more than this, because in every phase of college association you have won a place in our hearts, we find that from our hearts we desire to make this dedication to you.

To you, Dr. Thelma B. Culver, we devotedly dedicate this Oasis.

AS TEACHER

AS ADVISOR

AS FRIEND

FOREWORD

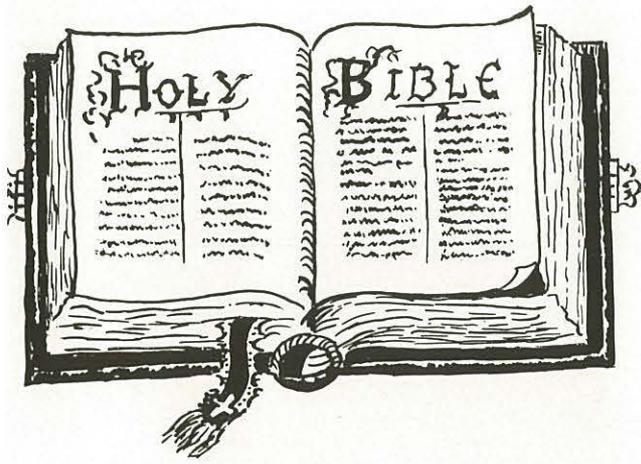

"Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him who loved us."

ROMANS 8:37.

As the Christian flag has symbolized the unity and conquering spirit of Christianity throughout the centuries, N.N.C. has this past year voiced this spirit with the theme chorus "Victory In Jesus." We have fought many battles, but through them all we have been victorious. Not by our own strength has this been accomplished, but in the words of the text, "Through him who loved us." There have been disappointments and times of near discouragement; nevertheless, as good soldiers we have pressed the battle until today we look back with the feeling of satisfied victory.

N.N.C., to all of us means training ground on the one hand, and haven on the other. Here we face real problems, and by all of us working together with God we discover the how of achieving faith. Our dream of a new church has shaken the mist off its walls, and has become real brick and mortar; finances for carrying on the mechanics of the college have been provided; young people have replaced theory with reality of Christian experience. Sheltered as it is from faithless professors and godless students we find in N.N.C. a haven of spiritual blessing.

Throughout the pages of the 1949 Oasis we have endeavored to record all of the phases of activity which have made this a great year for each of us. It has been our desire to portray each item and each activity in the same light it was emphasized throughout the year. Just as the apple gives purpose to the beautiful blossom so we feel that great educational mechanisms can only find purpose in religious enlightenment. In truth, there is no way to present N.N.C. other than "Conquering for Christ."

OUR PRESIDENT AT WORK

There is no one on the campus of N.N.C. who exemplifies the spirit of conquering for Christ as does our president, Dr. Lewis T. Corlett. A ready smile and a word of encouragement go hand in hand with his wise counseling and fervent prayers. We have a leader who commands respect and admiration, who lives what he preaches, and whose keenest desire is to further the kingdom of God.

Not only is he a spiritual father, but he is a counselor. Students feel free to go to his office for a friendly chat or for advice. He understands human nature and the problems young people face. He listens with sympathetic ear then offers words of encouragement. Invariably students leave his office with lifted spirits and renewed determination.

We are indeed fortunate to have Dr. Corlett as our president. His spirit of optimism and faith inspires everyone with whom he comes in contact, to become better conquerors for Christ.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Victorious and worthwhile living is the desire of every young person. No normal individual wants to be a failure. Youth has many dreams of the possibilities which might be attained in life. God has made man with capacities and abilities which reach out for something beyond and can only be satisfied as these urges and energies are directed in useful service. God has made a provision for man to be greater and to do more than what man could do in himself. He promised that through the empowering of the Holy Spirit His followers should do greater works than were done while He was on earth. "Verily, Verily, I say unto you, he that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also, and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my father."

Today offers to each one the greatest opportunity of any day to conquer for Christ. In the midst of confusion, Christ offers to provide a guide. In the midst of darkness, He states that He is the "Light of the World." In the midst of sorrow, He says, "My joy shall remain in you, that your joy might be full." In the midst of turmoil, he said, "Peace I leave with you." In the midst of loneliness, He said, "I will never leave thee nor forsake thee." In the midst of weakness, He states, "As thy days so shall thy strength be." His promises and His challenge are encouragement for every person to conquer with Christ.

This has been a good year in which much conquest has been made for Christ in N.N.C. As this book summarizes the activities of the year, we must also consider the progress made in spiritual things. Many individuals have been delivered from the power of sin and satan; others have been cleansed from the sinful nature which made them self-centered. All have had their horizons broadened and objectives clarified. Truly, we could raise our Ebenezer and say, "Hitherto the Lord hath helped us." Yet, while rejoicing in these things, we should lift up our eyes unto the fields which are white already unto harvest and go forth to be greater conquerors for Christ.

N.N.C. has joined with the General Church in the "Mid-Century Crusade for Souls." God is waiting and together we should answer the call. Throughout history, He has taken every individual who would purpose to live for Him and made him more than a conqueror. The divine resources are still as great as they were; the opportunities are greater. The need of the hour is for those individuals who have abandoned themselves to the Holy Spirit so that He can release His power upon a needy world. The battle-cry is ringing, the call to arms is sounding, God's army is on the march, and victory is assured. We should continue to sing the theme chorus of the year, "Victory in Jesus," and make it our theme for life.

N. N. C. HISTORY

"He went forth conquering"—REV. 6:2

Northwest Nazarene College began thirty-six years ago when Mr. Eugene Emerson caught the vision of conquering for Christ amid the sagebrush of southern Idaho. He persevered until he saw the school well on its way to development. His mantle was passed on to successors well worthy of the important position of president.

Dr. H. Orton Wiley conferred degrees on the first college graduating class in 1917. His ten-year term of service marked a valuable period in the life of the school. Dr. J. G. Morrison served as president for a few months until he was appointed to the position of Foreign Missions Secretary. Dr. R. E. Gilmore, serving during the difficult depression years, exhibited courage and faith that the cause would win.

Dr. R. V. DeLong assumed the position of leadership in 1935. Facing great odds, he contributed indomitable courage which placed the college on a firm foundation physically, scholastically, and spiritually. The campus improvements included the enlargement of Emerson Administration Building, the construction of Morrison Hall, and the R. T. Williams Library. In 1931 the College of Liberal Arts was accepted as a member of Northwest Association of Secondary and Higher Schools. In the spring of 1937 the college received full accreditation as a four-year college by the Northwest Association. The next year the college was elected to membership in the Association of American Colleges. Dr. DeLong merits great respect for his unswerving devotion to the cause of Christian education. Truly, "he went forth conquering."

His mantle fell upon the shoulders of our present, much-loved president, Dr. I. T. Corlett. Under his direction, ways and means of providing additional housing for veterans was secured. The new dormitory for boys, Chapman Hall, was completed. The College Coffee Shop was installed and the high school facilities enlarged. With the organization of the prayer band and its close to 6,000 members, has come divine guidance to iron out the problems of our school.

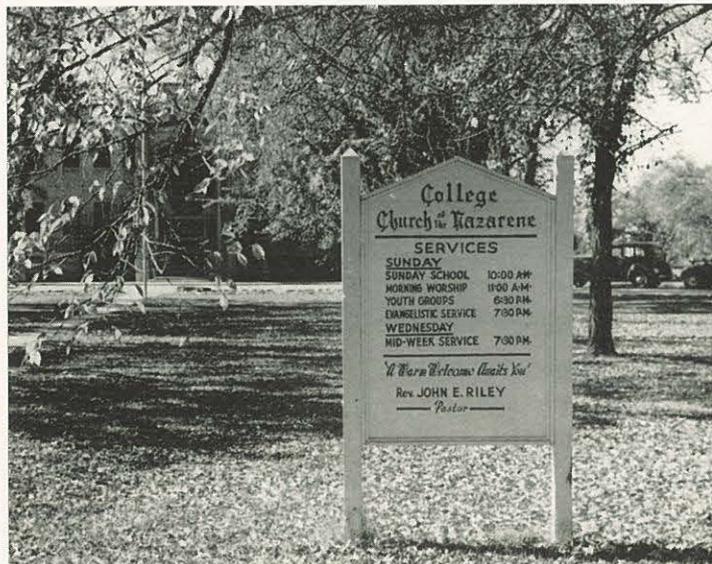

Throughout its history the college has maintained a wholesome Christian environment. Spiritual values have been assessed first place. Scores of young people have gone out to fill important positions as missionaries, ministers, educators, and professional men. By the influence of their Christian lives they indeed have gone forth to conquer.

Approaching the College we are inspired by the welcoming sign challenging us to conquer through Character, Culture, and Christ.

WELCOME TO OUR CAMPUS

Progressing toward the Administration Building we are extended our first invitation to our College Church of the Nazarene which promises a haven for students and citizens alike.

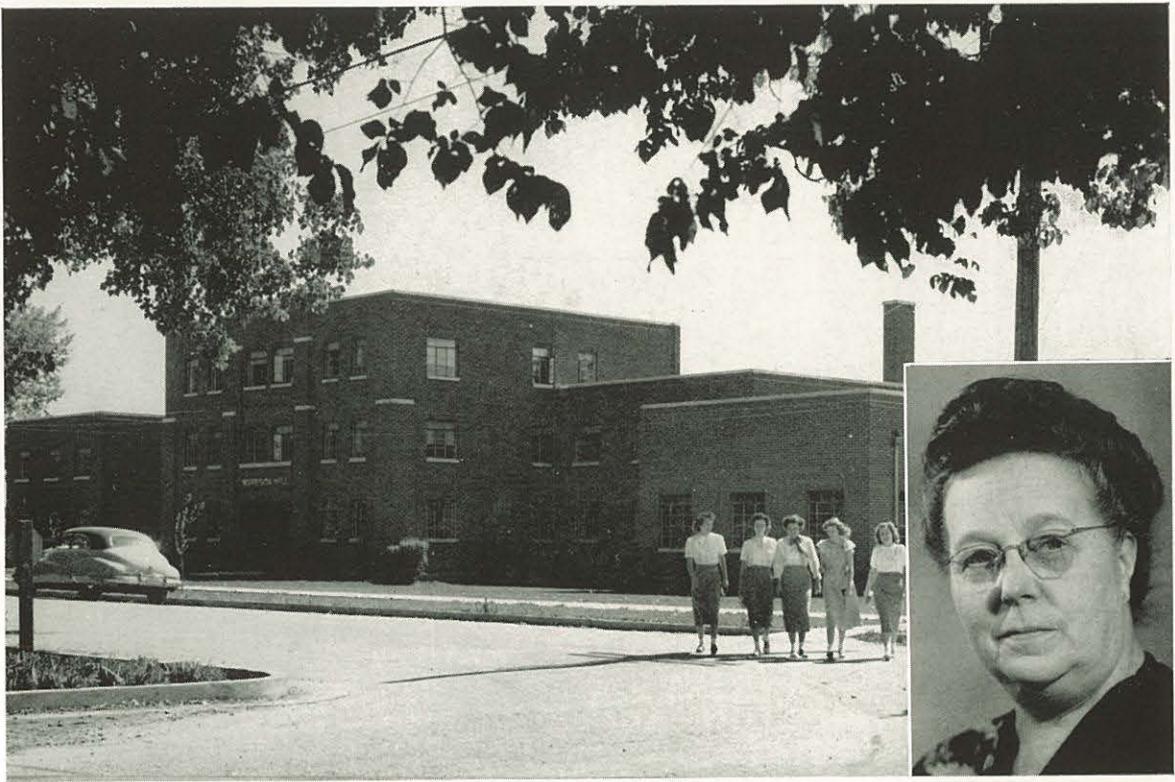

EMERSON ADMINISTRATION BUILDING

First Stop

Our first stop is at the Emerson Administration Building, the training ground for new recruits to begin their preparation for their Crusade for Christ.

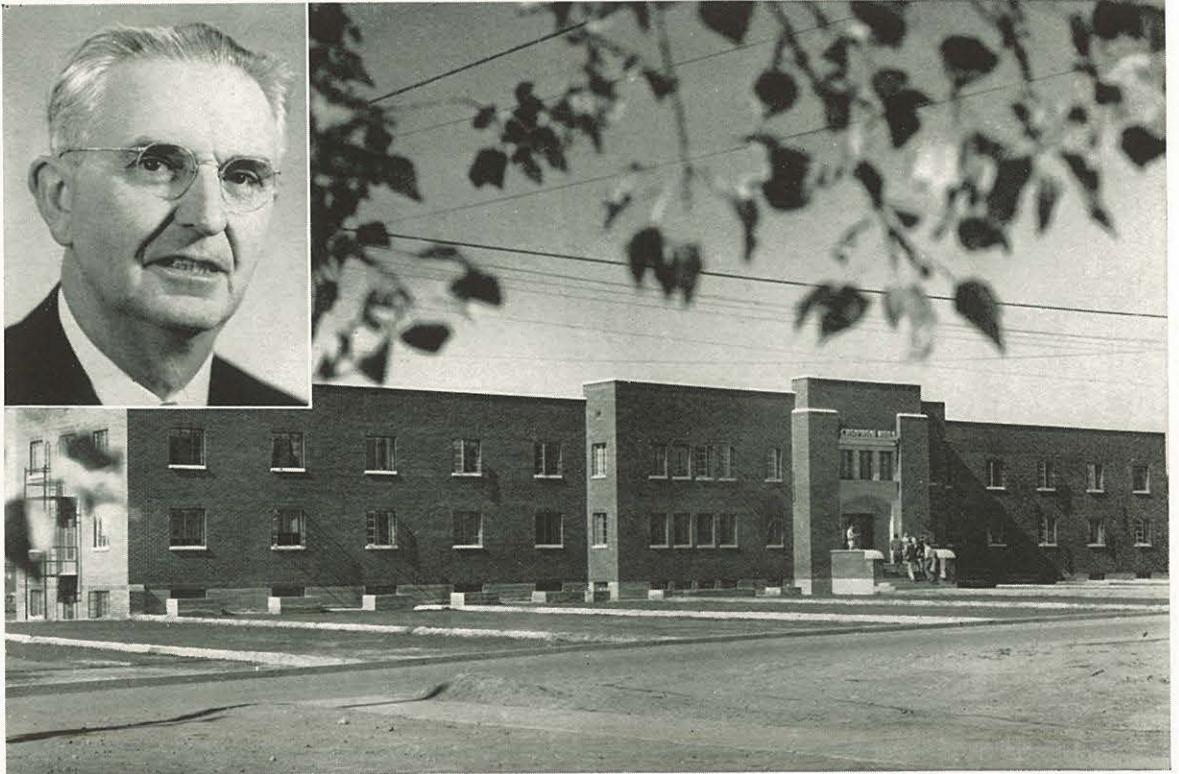

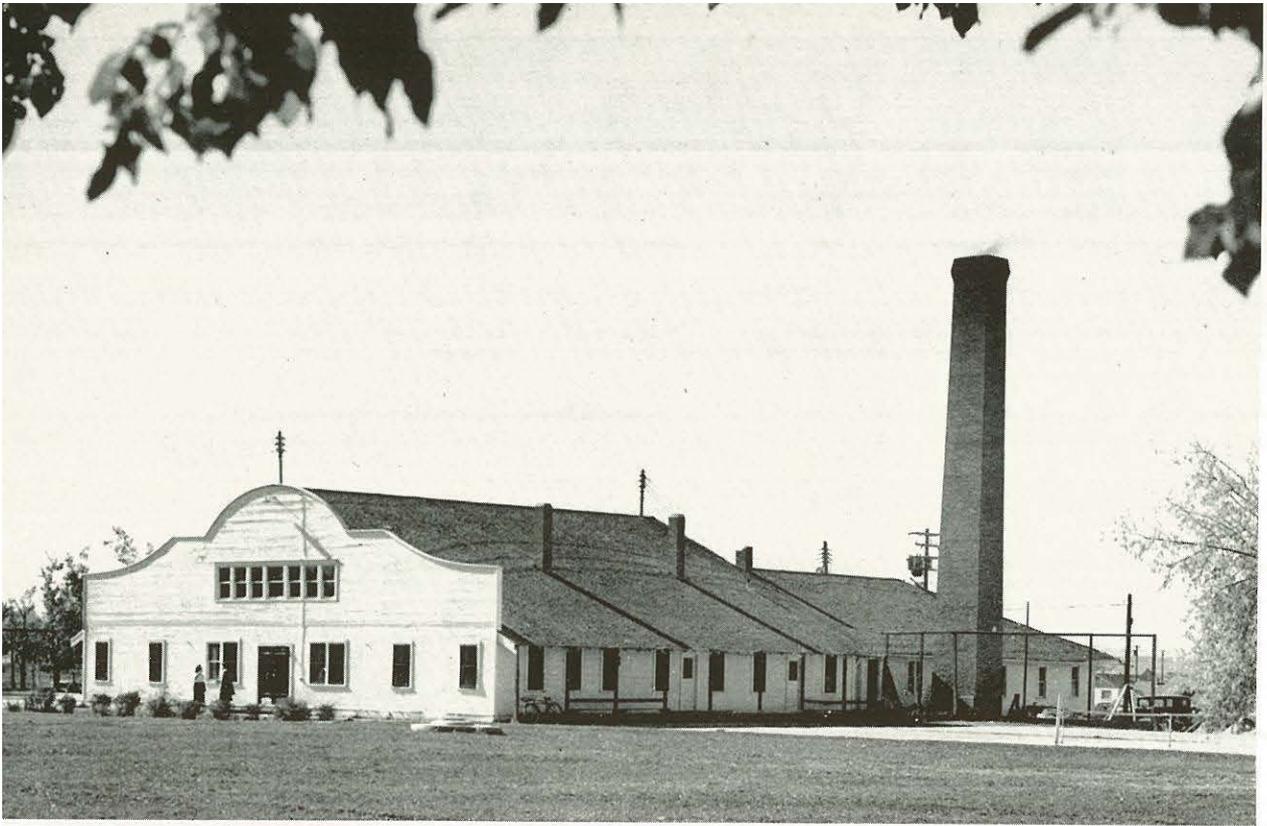

MORRISON HALL

Second Stop

On our tour of the campus our second stop is at the dormitories where we are warmly welcomed by the Deans of Morrison and Chapman, Mrs. Holmes and Harold Hart.

CHAPMAN HALL

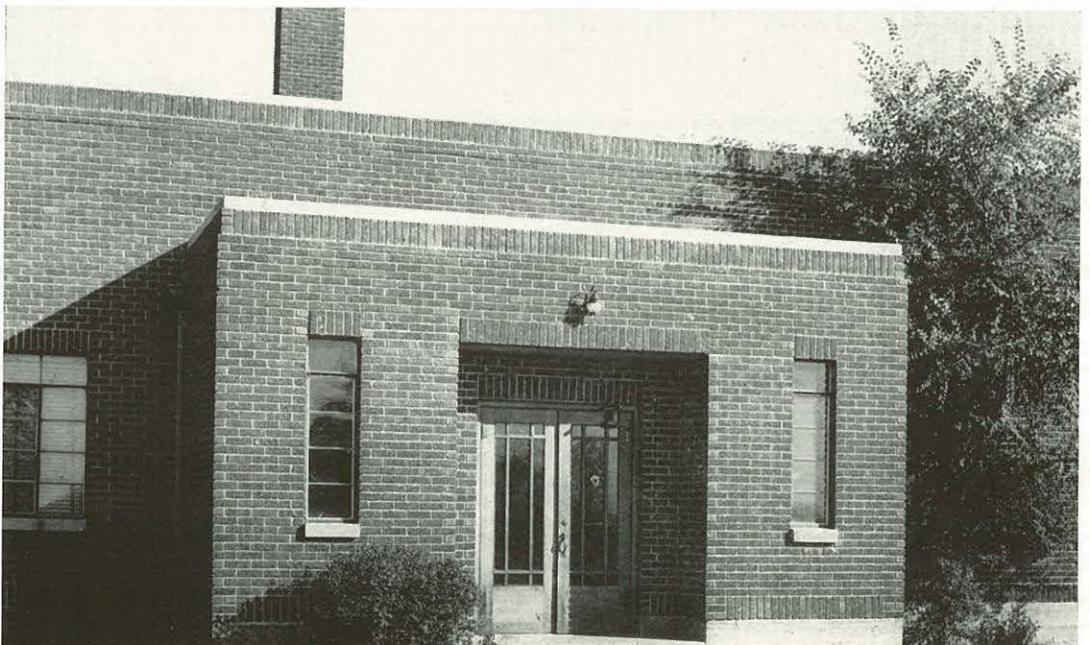

SPEECH HALL

The Old and New

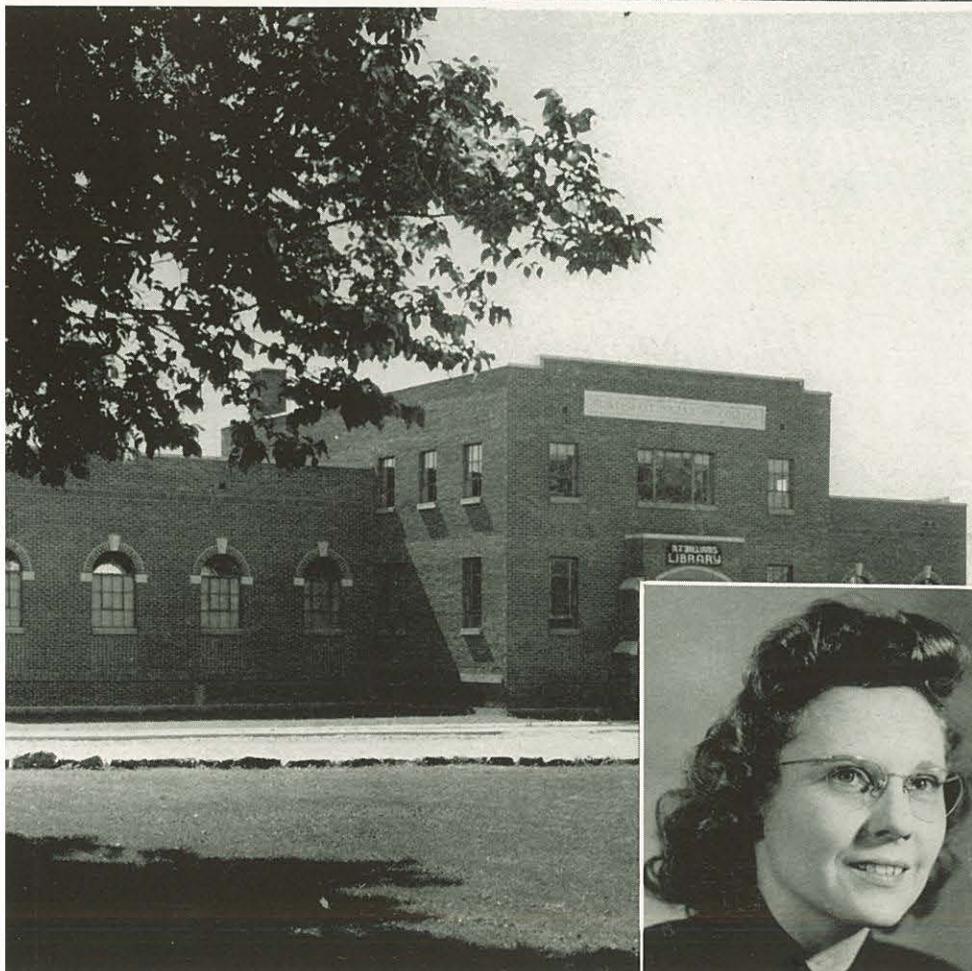

What was first the Dining Hall, then the Music Hall, is now the scene of play rehearsals, debates, or speech tournaments. A constant stream of students in and out of its door is tangible evidence of the busy life of the Speech Department.

The Dining Hall is characterized by the happy hum of conversation or the quiet reverence as students bow for family worship.

DINING HALL

As we approach Hadley Hall we meet Miss Helen Wilson, head dean of women. The improvements made in this dorm are constant reminders of the determination and initiative of the girls who live here.

The book-filled shelves of the R. T. Williams Library present an opportunity for research and extensive study for students.

MRS. BITTLESTON
Librarian

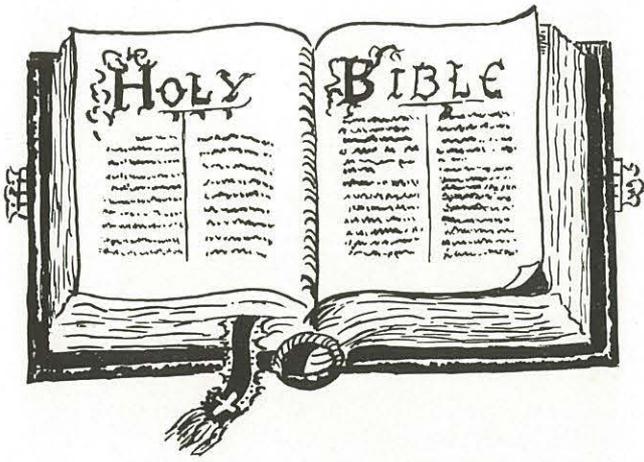

As we walk across the campus we are overwhelmed by a flood of discordant sounds issuing forth from the Fine Arts Building. This is the home of all the campus would-be artists and musicians.

The hub of activity for the High School students is the newly-acquired building on the southwest corner of the campus where football cheers and peals of laughter are often heard.

The Grammar School Building is the training grounds for future soldiers of the Cross. Within its walls happy youngsters begin their educational careers and eagerly look forward to the day when they, too will be enrolled in the college.

CHAPTER ONE

"Thy word have I bid in my heart that I might not sin against thee." PSALMS 119:11

With but one goal in view—that of being in the center of Christ's will—our administration upholds the standards and strengthens the influence of our college.

Radiating character, culture, and Christ, the board of regents, administrators, and faculty alike not only give their students knowledge but are also shining examples of Christian perfection. They not only make education in a Christian environment possible, but also offer genuine friendship, sincere counsel, and earnest prayers to fit the student's need.

Their desires are not for individual fame or prosperity but to further the kingdom of Christ by producing intelligent young people, fully equipped to conquer for Christ.

STUDENT BODY OFFICERS

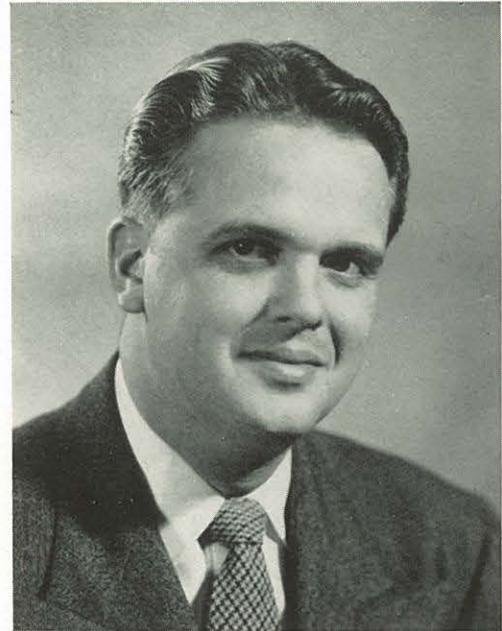

The lingering notes of evening taps mark the end of another day in the field of battle . . . a day that found its beginning with the sounding of reveille last September . . . another day packed full with the exhilarating thrill of hand-to-hand combat . . . a day that, on occasion, perhaps saw our ranks falter at times, only to surge forward again in new-found zeal and determination.

The day just past has sorely tried our mettle, but in each trial we've found new victory. We have been brought face to face with seeming sure defeat, only to find at our side the singing Sword of the Spirit and in our hearts a renewed will to press on to eventual conquest.

For the victories of this day we give fervent praise to our Commander, the Prince of Peace. With eager hearts we look toward the 'morrow with its new battles to be fought and new conquests to be claimed through Christ Jesus, our Lord.

In the service of the King,

KEN SULSTON.

There is not a more important group on our campus than the Student Council—the group that works hard to untangle our problems and to see that we have a well-organized student government.

Led by Ken Sulston, our competent president, the council has done much to see that the activities of the organization are developed to the best of their capacities.

The council members are elected by popular vote and it is a position of honor. They are the group that plan activities and have numerous jobs of leadership.

CHAPTER TWO

"Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my way."—PSALMS 119:105.

One of the treasured memories of those who have left the halls of N.N.C. is that of the hours spent in classes under Christian teachers and with Christian students. Although we tire of the classes at the time, we appreciate our opportunity to study and show ourselves approved, especially in a Christian college.

The prayer at the beginning of class, the impromptu testimonies, and even the drudgery of grammar classes or maybe Western Civilization will long be in our minds as we go forth to be beacons of knowledge to the world.

"To Battle"

"I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith."—II TIM. 4:7.

Having finished their preparation for the battles of life, the seniors embark on their crusade to conquer for Christ.

With a spring in their steps, and eager glimpses into the future, the seniors leave the halls of N.N.C. Somewhat regretfully they close the door on college days, break old ties, leave friends and familiar environment, to go out and make a place in the world. Their graduation ends another chapter in the book of life, and with a clean slate they break camp and move on to the next assignment.

The seniors, bound for every corner of the world, carry with them the influence and example of their college. They leave, perhaps with a few tears, but ever with them is the determination to be a blessing, to seek first the kingdom—to conquer for Christ.

SENIORS

Battling their way up from Freshman "Comp" to Senior comprehensives, the seniors have emerged the victors. With pleasant memories behind and a promising future ahead, they are ready for new conquests.

The sneak to Ferncroft Lodge in October was one of the high-lighting events of senior activity. The spicy mountain air, the tall stately pines, and the rushing, tumbling river, all contributed toward hilarious fun and relaxation for the busy seniors.

The memory of the Junior-Senior Banquet, class meetings full of suggestions, arguments pro and con, the hustle and bustle of robe-fitting and mortar boards in preparation for commencement has endeared itself in the hearts of every member of the graduating class.

Smile pretty.
What a feast!

What's your trouble B. G.?

SENIORS

Quietly but capably Milton Gardiner has directed the seniors through their climaxing year. He is an outpoint preacher and a family man in addition to his busy school life. Although most of the detail work was probably left to his petite wife, Milton contributed energetic ability and unswerving enthusiasm as he led the class through a triumphant year.

SENIORS

Maneuvers

“Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth.”—II TIM. 2:15.

The Juniors, looking back on past accomplishments and looking forward to greater goals, prepare for their final maneuvers. Having chased them down alleys and over rough country roads as the seniors left for the sneak, the juniors had the satisfaction of knowing that they were not caught completely off guard. The junior-senior banquet, a highlight of the year, caused a few headaches and furrowed brows as the juniors endeavored to make their banquet a memorable one. But the juniors eagerly anticipated their climaxing year when they could sit back and enjoy the efforts of their successors.

With their extra-curricular activities sublimated into the background, the juniors shouldered their responsibilities and buckled into their studies. They safely passed the transition from lower to upperclassmen and juggled hours and credits as best they could in order to make their final load as light as possible.

JUNIORS

With unbounding energy and enthusiasm the juniors look forward to the day when they will be admired and respected seniors. The junior class gained in prestige and momentum as the months flew by. Now as they embark on their final year, it is with determination to be a success and to repay in a small way the advantages and opportunities offered by their college.

Trying to be dignified.
Oooh, that Canadian smile.

Now, see here!

Oh, how I hate to get up in the morning!
Strictly, hard up.

Basic Training

"Let us run with patience the race that is set before us."—HEB. 12:1.

The sophomores, having finished their basic training, prepare for more advanced maneuvers. Realizing the responsibilities which will be theirs when they assume the role of upperclassmen, the sophomores are already seeking the more serious phases of college life.

The sophomores, however, have the satisfaction of knowing that the incoming freshmen received a rigid workout during initiation days. The climaxing party introduced the unsuspecting "frosh" to the tyranny of the sophs as they tried to seek revenge of their own initiation. The tug of war also gave the opportunity to display their brawn as they did their best to pull the fighting freshmen through the ditch.

The flag hunt between the sophs and frosh is also a memorable activity. The mad scramble by the winners to grease the pole and the hilarious fun of both sides introduces the friendly competition between the two classes.

As their second year comes to a close, the sophomores can look back on a well-rounded year of studies, social activities, and serving Christ.

S O P H O M O R E S

Veterans of one year of college life the sophomores returned to the field of battle determined to emerge the conquerors.

Forgetting their feeling of meekness as freshmen they vented their revenge upon the newcoming "frosh." Initiation and the annual tug of war were highlights of their social activity, as they took the hand of authority and proved themselves capable, led by their able president, Dean Galloway.

This class has shown us enthusiasm and dependability in activities and organizations. They have truly carved a niche in college life for themselves.

"When I first came to N.N.C. I was very much impressed by the friendliness of the students as well as the people here in Nampa. I especially enjoy the Christian atmosphere and the wonderful fellowship. Although I knew I was coming to a Christian College I didn't expect the people to be so nice and friendly. I like N.N.C. and find it to be a wonderful college and hope more students from Hawaii can come here to enjoy the fellowship too."

STANLEY NORDMO
Norway

"Northwest Nazarene College is something more than brick buildings, tree-lined walks and hardy lawns. A few of the many intangible qualities of this institution, that appeal to me include a Christianity which finds expression in every campus activity, and inspiring faculty both challenging and forbearing, a good-natured student body, bewilderingly versatile and the leadership of Dr. Corlett, truly a man of God."

JUNE NAKADO
Japan

"N.N.C., to me, represents America in ideals, customs, and character. Especially in a Christian College such as this, I know I am learning of the true America which was founded and established according to the faith of the Pilgrim fathers, some 456 years ago. Each year, the gospel will be spread farther because of N.N.C. students. To be a part of this great motivating force and to join in the grand march for Christ will be the happiest moment of my life."

DON TUCKER
British Honduras

"Thank God for N.N.C.! It is my holy mount of transfiguration. The vision received here will illumine my pathway in the valley of human needs. This inspiration will ever be a source of fuel to my burning heart, and the knowledge gained will be my tools which shall be used in the quest for blood-bought precious souls."

Induction

"Giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue and to your virtue knowledge."—II PETER 1:5.

Winning their way into our hearts the freshman class of 1948-49 came to our campus filled with determination and enthusiasm to make a name for themselves.

Emerging from initiation with sticky hair and stiff bodies they felt they had passed a milestone in their college career only to find they must enter in other activities, competing against the sophs. The fun-loving freshmen didn't mind for they knew they could look forward to the day when they would be sophs and could have the new class at their mercy.

FRESHMEN

The freshmen, our younger generation, took the balcony seats vacated by the sophs as the student body assembled for the daily chapel services. With their abounding energy and enthusiasm they crept into the hearts of faculty and student body alike, making a place for themselves and became an integral part of N.N.C. They eagerly look forward to three more years of college life, determined to be successful.

Will she make it? Aren't we pretty?

The special students commanded by curly-headed Dick Jackson have found themselves to be leaders in many student affairs—and have proved themselves worthy. SECOND SEMESTER STUDENTS

Students entering second semester at Northwest Nazarene College soon discover that they have missed a semester full of activity plus much study. But the spring term holds a schedule full of school functions such as Campus Day, Picnic Day and the annual spring Choir tours. Spring is a busy season on our campus. We welcome all the new students to N.N.C.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL

"But when Jesus saw it, he was much displeased, and said unto them, Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdom of God."

MARK 10:14

Readin', Ritin' and 'Rithmetic taught to the tune of the cadet teachers of our college department is characteristic of our elementary training school.

These children are just everyday, happy, carefree school children whose parents have felt the need of christian supervision for their children and therefore have sent them to our grammar school.

The school is supervised by D. G. Laughlin, principal of College High School and is excellently and capably taught by Mrs. Laughlin and Mrs. Blackwell. We feel they are doing an important job for "a little child shall lead them" and what could be more of a requisite for Christian usefulness than the right training.

Recruits

"Keep thy heart with all diligence; for out of it are the issues of life."—PROV. 4:23

Occupying a corner of the campus all their own the students of College High happily prepare themselves for a higher education in the college. With the characteristic hustle and bustle of a high school, our younger generation are making a name for themselves.

And yet, in addition to their spirit of happy-go-lucky fun and their buoyant enthusiasm, the members of the high school recognize the seriousness of life with its problems and difficulties. With youthful sincerity and frankness they strive for Christian perfection. They recognize the importance of a daily walk with Christ and with this in mind set a high standard for Christian living. The students of College High are marching forward with a healthy determination to prepare themselves for their college days. With their youthful dreams and ambitions the students go through their high-school days with characteristic fervor knowing that with God before them, who can be against them.

COLLEGE HIGH SCHOOL

"Yeh, the red; yeh, the white—Fight 'em Trojans." Exerting unending vitality our College High School has certainly made us proud. Basketball, football, something new for our campus, and the beauty of their music has won them a name in our valley.

Proud of their school and determined to make it proud of them, they go forth to conquer others for the Master.

Listen my children!
It can't be that bad.

Junior-Senior Banquet—a gala affair.

Thank you—Jack Simplot!

Steppin' hi.

Fight 'em Trojans, Fight 'em.

COLLEGE HIGH OFFICERS

DEL CHERRINGTON
President

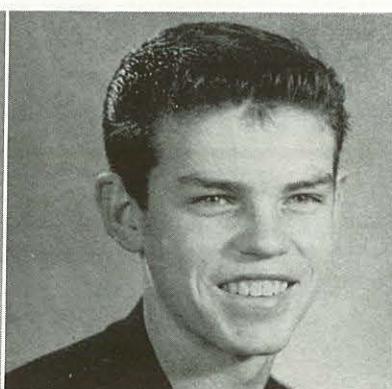

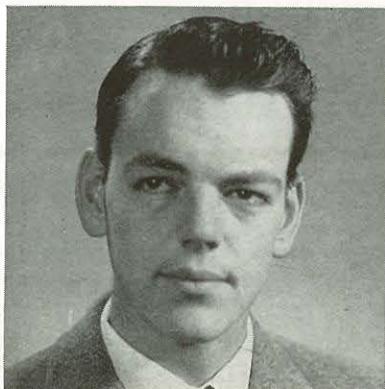

Del Cherrington, popular president of the College High student body, is a familiar person in high school activities. Not only does he excel in the music field but is also at the top of his class scholastically. Presenting a shining Christian example, Del's a "regular guy."

Proud of their newly acquired student government, College High is expanding and improving in every way. Their carefully elected executive council is leading the high school on to higher heights. With Christian ideals, and buoyant enthusiasm College High has become a real asset to the College.

CHAPTER THREE

"I therefore so run, not as uncertainly; so fight I, not as one that beateth the air."—I COR.: 9:26

Every extra moment in the student's school life is very aptly filled by a well-organized schedule of extra-curricular activity. Designed to accommodate each personality need, the various phases of occupation contribute toward a successful college career. Samaritan Hospital and the college church also provide an excellent opportunity in the fields of medicine and religion, in addition to such activities as music recitals and art displays.

SIGMA LAMBDA ALPHA SOCIETY

The S.L.A.'s proved themselves to be members of the best society by winning the Faculty Loving Cup the first semester. Providing enthusiastic competition in every function, the S.L.A.'s became known for their versatility and talent. It was an exciting race but the other three societies finally bowed to the capabilities and enthusiasm of the members of the Sigma Lambda Alpha Society.

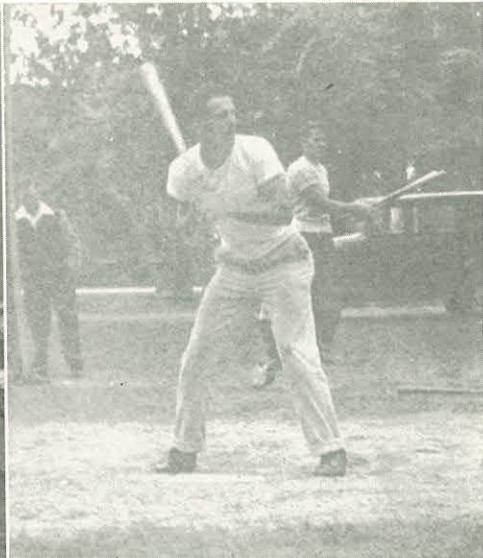

FIRST SEMESTER PRESIDENT AND PROGRAM CHAIRMAN

Proving to be an unbeatable team, the first semester president, Lowell Blum, and Program Chairman, Bette Harding, earned a reputation of dependability and resourcefulness. To them goes the gratitude and thanks for their part in winning the coveted Cup.

SECOND SEMESTER PRESIDENT AND PROGRAM CHAIRMAN

The S.L.A. Society got off to a good start with the determined prodding of the president Dick Hoyle and the capable encouragement of the Program Chairman, Norma Kastella. With both of them positive that the S.L.A. Society is the best, their enthusiasm and energy have provided incentive for the society, as they set out to take top honors again.

LAMBDA SIGMA PI SOCIETY

Known for their steady plugging in fair weather, and weather not so fair, the L.S.P. Society proved to be a stumbling block in the way of its sister societies, although in its own right it did not gain high honors in the athletic and literary activities of the college. Capturing third place in the race, first semester, for the Cup, did not daunt the spirits of the L.S.P.'s and the beginning of second semester found them leading the way with victory as a goal.

FIRST SEMESTER PRESIDENT AND PROGRAM CHAIRMAN

With steady Doug Powers and cheerful Libby Perkins as President and Program Chairman, respectively, the L.S.P.'s entered first semester with all the zest a new year can bring. Showing initiative when called to the task, this pair supported its society's activities to the full.

SECOND SEMESTER PRESIDENT AND PROGRAM CHAIRMAN

An almost invincible duo, Kenneth Potter and Jack Hawthorne, launched a program for the L.S.P.'s which caused the other societies to shake a leg in defense of the Faculty Loving Cup for second semester. Dependable Kenny proved to be a staunch supporter of the cause of his society, while Jack with his versatile abilities ranging from carpenter to technician, set an example hard to be excelled by any program chairman.

Realizing that someone has to be at the bottom of the heap, the OLY's proved to be good sports, and with high spirits and renewed determination launched the second semester with flying colors. The Olys, the brunt of many a joke the first semester, have rallied their forces for future victories.

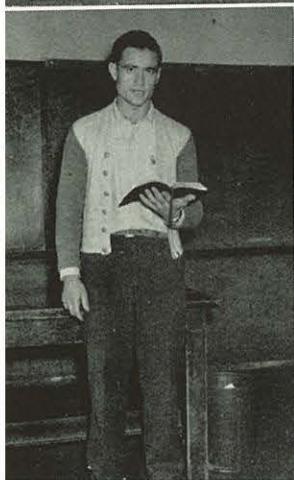

FIRST SEMESTER PRESIDENT AND PROGRAM CHAIRMAN

First semester President, Dean Galloway, and Program Chairman, Roma Mitchell proved their loyalty and staunch support to their society in the face of odds. Undaunted by defeat, Roma and Dean have stepped aside to their successors but are still the OLY's best boosters.

SECOND SEMESTER PRESIDENT AND PROGRAM CHAIRMAN

The capable President Paul Harris and good-natured Program Chairman, Eunice Lintz are providing stiff competition for their sister societies. Determined not to have history repeat itself the two are sure of victory for the OLY's.

ALPHA DELTA PHI SOCIETY

Enthusiasm and determination are the keynotes of the A.D.P. Society. They came in second in the battle for the Faculty Loving Cup, first semester, but their spirit was undaunted. Noted for their ingenuity and perseverance the A.D.P.'s command admiration and respect in every activity.

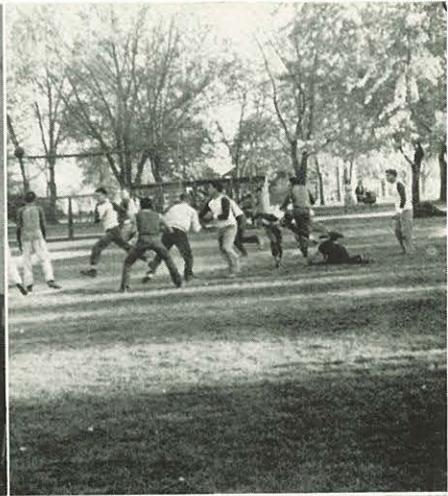

FIRST SEMESTER PRESIDENT AND PROGRAM CHAIRMAN

With that "easy to get along with" Ruth Goehring as President and Marilyn Perkins, that girl with the ideas as Program Chairman, the A.D.P.'s were close contenders for the Cup first semester. Their enthusiasm helped carry the A.D.P.'s over the top in athletic and literary activities.

SECOND SEMESTER PRESIDENT AND PROGRAM CHAIRMAN

Not letting the first semester officers carry all the headaches which are part of official duties, second-semester President Doug Alexander and Program Chairman Jean Kirkpatrick helped foster added enthusiasm and loyalty among A.D.P. members. The inexperience of both in leading a group such as the A.D.P.'s did not keep them from boosting every phase of the society's activities.

ATHLETIC LITERARY COUNCIL

The Athletic Literary Council, guided by LaMont Lee, consists of the officers of the four societies. Meeting together once a month, the members gather to discuss any problems that arise in the intramural program. They act upon such problems as the society plays, sports, closed night, jamborees, as well as council the officers as to their responsibility to their individual societies.

The co-operation exhibited in this council sets a good example for top production in all society activities. The council sets the pace for a full, well-rounded program and faithfully provides an outlet for hidden talent or extra energy. Under their leadership the intramural program has become one of the outstanding features of our college.

C L U B S

Northwest Nazarene College is always buzzing with activity and enthusiasm and perhaps it is because each club and organization on our campus has an aim and a worthy purpose.

This year has been the dawn for many new clubs such as the English or Literature Club, Ski Club, Beta Chi Alpha, alias the Art Club, and our muscle men, the Sons of Samson. Although they are still "babes" each has proved that they have a spot on our program of extra-curricular activity.

There is a club or organization in every field of interest as an outlet for student leadership and talent.

What would N.N.C. be without her clubs?

ASSOCIATED WOMEN STUDENTS

JOANNE BURKHART
President

One of the largest organizations of the college is the Associated Women Students. With Joanne Burkhart as the enthusiastic president, the A.W.S. has had part in many of the year's main activities. The big and little sister party, the purpose of which is to welcome the new girls, introduced a successful year. This was followed by the Thanksgiving Banquet, the Christmas party, Heart Sister Week, Valentine party and numerous other affairs which proclaimed the efficiency of the A.W.S. and its executive council.

President

The Men's Club, in friendly competition with the Associated Women Students, has also made a name for itself in college life. It opens the year with Stag Week climaxed by a gala party in the gym. Our bearded heroes rather reluctantly turn their backs on the fairer sex and proceed to have an evening of their own. With Dean Hart loyally sponsoring his boys, the Men's Club successfully launched the fire prevention and campus improvement campaign.

The newly organized Art Club proved to create aesthetic interests among students this year, having for its purpose to provide an outlet for the talents of students. Through the efforts of the club, well-planned exhibits of students' work were displayed. The Christmas Art sale, sketching tours and visits to the Boise Art Gallery plus talks from visiting speakers are a great part of the activity of Beta Chi Alpha. An original pin was designed for the club through a contest, that proved to be very unique. Truly, the artists of N.N.C. have proved their organization to be an asset to our activity program.

Various phases of different educational problems are discussed. Each year the F.T.A. sends delegates to the Idaho Educational Association district convention. Northwest Nazarene College can be proud of her education department and of those students who are training to teach the youth of America.

To do this the club has brought to its members the following speakers this past year: Rev. John Riley, Dr. Bob Mangum, Dr. Hardy Powers, Dr. Chalfant, Rev. Prescott Beals and Rev. John Neilson.

The climaxing meeting of the year is the annual banquet with one of the General Superintendents as special speaker. Interest in the Timothy Club is growing and plans have been laid for another successful year.

The Foreign Mission Band has a unique place of service at N.N.C. Organized primarily for those students who plan to serve on the foreign field, it has been blessed time and time again with the challenge of world missions. Being capably led by Pat Davis for three years, the Foreign Mission Band has progressed yearly. Nearly one hundred students are planning to go into the distant lands to "preach Christ and Him crucified."

CHRISTIAN WAR VETERANS

With a Christian vision and enthusiastic zeal the returned veterans have diligently served the cause of Christ by organizing outpoints and holding week-end revivals. The group is characterized by an intense loyalty and an earnest desire to serve in any possible capacity. The vets chose Richard Dickson as their leader and under his guidance have made conquests for Christ.

SATURDAY NIGHT WORK SHOP

Here we find the Christian Workers' Band in one of their Saturday night services. Many times they have outstanding speakers and these services prove to be a blessing and help to those attending.

CHRISTIAN WORKER'S BAND

RICHARD DICKSON
President

Following the age-old maxim "Experience is the best teacher" the Christian Workers' Band is a student organization which propagates "on the job training" for ministerial students and lay-workers. With theory worked out in their Saturday night workshop, the members of this group put into practice their knowledge in small community churches in and near Nampa with some presenting sermons, and others providing music and art to supplement the program.

Of all campus organizations, this group perhaps exemplifies more than any the theme "Conquering for Christ."

OUTPOINT WORK

Workers leave the campus on Sunday mornings for various outlying communities where they regularly conduct services. Pete and his helpers are about to leave for the Lake Lowell outpost.

AN OUTPOINT CONGREGATION

Maple Grove, pastored by Roy Green is typical of the many congregations faithfully ministered to by our outpost preachers from Sunday to Sunday. Here we see the Gebharts, Betty Collins, Marcella Heberlen and Ray Springer helping in this particular service.

OUTPOINT PREACHERS

Here are some of our outpost preachers. Back row, are Merl Bozarth, Don Farrand, Fred Johnson. Front row, are Milton Gardiner, Roy Green, Gale Newell. Outpoint work is a major part of the activities of the Christian Workers' Band. Here the young people get experience, but more important they are being obedient unto that heavenly vision.

The quiet serenity of the library is characteristic of the calm efficiency exhibited by the college librarians. Many of the girls are working their way through school and they find Mrs. Corlett and Mrs. Bittleston very congenial overseers. Maintaining a peaceful atmosphere, the librarians have proved their capability in serving the student body in an important capacity.

HOSPITAL

Efficient and calm is our superintendent of nurses, Mrs. Gladys Kinzler. Her beautiful life and character have endeared her to all concerned with the hospital.

Business Manager, Nelson Ammons, is known for his brusque but capable manner. Under his guidance, the hospital, in co-operation with the college, has carved a niche of high esteem in the community.

COLLEGE CHURCH

College Church, spiritual home for the students during the school year, has come to mean something very near and dear to each one of us! The pep and enthusiasm of the students and the faithfulness of the citizens combine to make "our" church a going and growing organization. The dream of having a building all its own for the College Church is finally becoming a reality. Rev. Riley's inspiring sermons and Wednesday evening talks have been a blessing to all attending. The song service, led by Professor Ray Knighton, fills the chapel with a worshipful atmosphere. The College Church choir offers an outlet for talent, spiritual activity and service. Ken Sulstan has done an outstanding job as assistant pastor, filling the place of Rev. Riley in his absence.

The College Church has proved itself to be the "hub" of the great machine, Northwest Nazarene College.

COLLEGE CHURCH PASTOR

A gripping handshake, a hearty "God Bless You," or "Good Morning," is typical of our tall Irish pastor, John E. Riley. His sincere life and enthusiastic attitude has endeared him to students and older people as well. Taking an active part in College work and functions plus his pastoral duties keeps him one of the busiest men on the campus.

Old and young alike leave the service refreshed in spirit and ready for another week of hard work or busy activity, perhaps both. Our church provides a department for each age and a host of activity for each one interested in Christian service.

President Elmore Vail and his committee provide an adequate program for the young people of College Church. They have done a wonderful job this year in presenting a varied and interesting program.

GEORGE COULTER

Providing a criterion by which to judge the spiritual atmosphere for the new college year, Rev. Coulter challenged the student body to go forward with Christ. Rev. Coulter, an alumnus of N.N.C., gave the students delightful reminiscences of his own college days.

DR. HARDY C. POWERS

With the bustle of Christmas fast approaching, College Church paused from school work for an enjoyable and deeply devotional period of revival under the preaching of Dr. Powers, giving N.N.C. one of its most gracious revivals.

DR. E. O. CHALFANT

Dr. E. O. Chalfant with his dynamic personality won the hearts of the students in early February as he presented the Miller Lectures. The annual series provided for by the late General Superintendent, H. V. Miller and Mrs. Miller, are presented annually for the benefit of the ministerial students and others.

SPECIAL SPEAKERS

REV. JOHN NIELSON

Altars lined with students seeking salvation, restoration and sanctification in both chapel and evening services characterized the spring revival in Northwest Nazarene College. Rev. Nielson gave to N.N.C. the determination to live for Christ and to go forward in His service.

REV. PRESCOTT BEALS

A veteran missionary well qualified to present the Mangum Lectures, Rev. Beals thrilled the hearts of prospective missionaries and the entire student body. The series were an inspiration to all to conquer for Christ and His glory.

CHAPTER FOUR

"Whether therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatever ye do, do all to the glory of God."—I COR. 10:31

Tramping through ice and snow to the gym, getting stiff necks and an occasional "achin back," N.N.C. students go all out for basketball. In the spring a visitor to the campus would find the point of activity at the tennis courts or in a group of golfers searching for a ball in one of the numerous ditches . . . or one might find a large crowd yelling at the baseball diamond, "C'mon pitch, c'mon babe," or the attention might be focused on one of the vigorous softball games.

Athletics take up a great deal of leisure time for students. There is an athletic activity for everyone at N.N.C. from the grade school child to the most austere faculty member. High school athletics have been one of the outstanding events for this year. Coach Elmore Vail has done a superb job and we're all very proud of the younger generation.

Field day, during commencement season is an exciting day for all aspiring pole vaulters, high jumpers, or other track enthusiasts as they try to bring honor to their society.

Athletics, whether intramural or inter-collegiate, play a major part in the activities on our campus. Truly our athletic teams have portrayed the spirit of N.N.C.

"We've got the coach, We've got the team, We've got the pep, We've got the steam. . . ." A scoring shot, a riotous cheer and the Crusaders fight on to a hard-won victory. N.N.C. has always been proud of her basketball squads and this year is no exception. Starting off with a flourish they were victorious in their first five games. Then a streak of bad luck brought them several losses on their trip to the Southland. Despite wins or losses we all think Coach Monty Lee has done a grand job of coaching a great team.

WOODY BEUKELMAN

Coach Monty Lee and trainer Dave Burkhart proved to be the hub of the team. Together they succeeded in molding the boys into a forceful and successful squad. Johnny Cramer, high point man for the season, was acting captain. Keeping their credit good and their ledgers in the black, was Ercil Bowman, manager. The '48-'49 basketball season will long be remembered by player and spectator alike.

COACH MONTY LEE and TRAINER DAVE BURKHART

A whistle blows and big Carlyle Dean gets the tip off! So another suspense-packed basketball game gets under way. The Crusaders enjoyed three basketball trips, one going east, then north and finally to sunny California. Whether the game resulted in a win or loss, each member of the team was always a Christian gentleman and a good clean sport. Our team plus our coach, plus our vivacious yell leaders would spell success in any language.

"Hey, whatta' ya' say LET'S GO"—The vivacious yell-leaders led the N.N.C. fans as they proclaimed their loyalty for the fighting Crusaders. It wasn't hard for the exuberant yell-leaders, Bette Harding, Dot Edwards, Pat Johnson, and Dot Davis to make each game a triumph of pep, enthusiasm, and excitement.

BASKETBALL

Big Carlyle Dean is up in the air for the tip-off and the game is off to a racing start. Eastern Oregon's team made a good showing but not equal to the fast-breaking Crusaders.

Intramural sports at N.N.C. include many track events such as the high-jump, pole-vaulting, broad-jump, hurdles and discus hurdling which culminate in one big event, Field Day. Here we see Doug Powers at the disk.

All the basketball fans in our community have come to know that College High can and has produced some top notch teams but this year they seemed to outdo those in former years. The fellows had only two defeats in their whole season and the football team did just as well. Sports at our High School are the major part of outside school activity and the students of C.H.S. have truly exemplified the fact that Christian high school students can excel in any field.

Stepping into the basketball spotlight this year, the C.H.S. team has done an outstanding piece of work, led by a great coach, Elmore Vail. Everyone who has seen them play realizes they have the prospects of a great team. Jay Dean and Curt Beukelman both proved themselves to be A-1 sportsmen. The team has many times received recognition not only for ability but for their sterling sportsmanship which is typical of College High School.

Tall Jay jumps for the tip-off.

CHAPTER FIVE

"Her ways are ways of pleasantness, and all her paths are peace."—PROV. 3:17

The Oasis, the Crusader, debaters, musical organization . . . all of the various extra-curricular activities of our school set a rapid pace for a full schedule. The members of the Oasis and Crusader staffs, each thinking his publication the more important of the two, do their best to make each issue a little better than the one before.

The debate teams are proud of the honors they brought their alma mater on the annual trip to Linfield College. Striving day and night for more substantial arguments, the debaters proved their ability and ingenuity.

The musical organizations hold the honor of being the school's most popular activity. The A Capella Choir, with its annual spring tour is looked forward to by all its members and is a blessing not only to the participants but also to those who listen. Musical groups go to the various churches on the districts during the summer vacation to represent the school. Each one who travels is conscious of the high honor and responsibility placed in his hands.

Without the various activities, the school would not prosper. We are fortunate indeed to have access to such a program under a Christian influence.

GIRLS' CHORUS

During the third year of organization under the direction of Miss Clara Christenson, the Girls' Chorus has fast become one of the outstanding music organizations on the campus. Contributing to church services is one of the primary functions of the choir; and under Miss Christenson's watchful care, the organization is growing rapidly and is serving to train voices in choral work which will be of value to those participating.

"Aoot," (out, the English way) of the "throuats" of promising young male singers of the campus is developing another live-wire musical organization, the Male Chorus. Its first year under the direction of Professor Hughes has proved to be one of good music, lots of fun, and a definite contribution to College Church services. Professor Hughes has rapidly shown his ability in musical organization with his fine group of men's voices.

Its first year under the direction of Professor J. Raymond Knighton, the choral group of over 150 student voices complemented by a group of town friends and faculty members began its rehearsals early in the school year. These weekly rehearsals culminated in the presentation of the Oratorio on December 12 in Nampa's Central Auditorium before a capacity crowd.

SPECIAL ENTERTAINMENT

Bringing to our campus a bit of ol' Scotland, the Scottish Kilties entertained the students with an evening of singing and playing the bagpipes. Also they gave a short history of the Kilties and of the different clans.

For the past two years N.N.C. has been entertained once or twice a year by a so called "Donkey Ballgame," in which the players ride the donkeys to play either basketball or baseball. They have become a delightful and riotous time for all observers.

CHAPTER SIX

"But thanks be to God, which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ."—I COR. 15:57

It is only fitting that a part of our book be dedicated to the memory of Dr. Howard V. Miller. Truly a conqueror for Christ Dr. Miller went to his reward in December, 1948.

Chosen by the student body for their scholastic ability, versatility in activities, and sterling character, ten students received the honor of being a member of Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Also pictured this year are those who received student awards last year in specific fields such as art, music and athletics.

Such events as the Thanksgiving and Christmas banquets are the outstanding functions of the year. With a festively decorated dining hall and effective background music, the banquets have become a tradition. Homecoming week, climaxed by the Tip-Off Queen coronation was a big night, not only for the Queen and her court, but also for every member of the student body. The long processional and crowning of the Queen by student body President, Ken Sulston, climaxed weeks of preparation and anticipation.

DR. HOWARD V. MILLER

Northwest Nazarene College and the Church of the Nazarene have lost both a personal friend and a trusted leader in the sudden death of General Superintendent Miller.

Howard Miller joined the church in the state of New York. He later served as District Superintendent of the New York and the New England districts. From the New York district he came west to pastor the First Church in Chicago, where he was a very successful pastor. In 1939 he again turned westward and joined the faculty here at N.N.C. His term of teaching was short however for after one year of service he was elected to the General Superintendency and served in that capacity until his recent death.

In 1943 Dr. and Mrs. Miller set up the Miller Lecture Series and have financed the bringing of an outstanding church leader to the campus for one week each year to speak both to the ministerial students and the entire student body in chapel. For the past five years these lectures have encouraged students and faculty by both the fellowship and ministry of the men who are brought to the campus. The College Church is now continuing the lectures in honor of Dr. Miller.

The administration, faculty, student body and Oasis Staff deeply appreciated this great man of God and feel the loss of a good friend to N.N.C.

DIARY

A "beat up" pen, a shabby notebook, worn-out saddle shoes and a program of the play I was in—funny how they bring back memories, Remember—

SEPT. 13 After introducing myself to the girl I live near and standing in line all afternoon to register, I found myself playing three deep at the Get-Acquainted Party. I found that N.N.C. is really a friendly place.

SEPT. 14-19. This week's classes were interspersed with Chapel talks by an alumnus, Rev. George Coulter, who is holding our Opening Convention. The evening services were also inspiring and I felt goose-bumps all over as I watched the altar lined with seekers night after night.

SEPT. 24. I got so tired of telling people my name tonight but it was fun wearing a formal and having a date. These Student-Faculty Receptions are nice and Dr. Corlett's address on taking advantage of our opportunities here at College really made me stop and think.

OCT. 30. It's sure going to be fun to be a senior. They did a fade-out the 27th and right in the middle of our Halloween party tonight, they returned from their sneak to Ferncroft Lodge, blowing their horns and hollering hilariously. Confidentially I think they were really tickled to be back.

NOV. 26. I'm sure glad I'm an L.S.P. for they won first place tonight in the basketball Jamboree. My throat is so sore I'm sure I won't talk for a week. It wasn't half bad being away from home on Thanksgiving with so many things to do. The Turkey Bowl football game was really rough and I was awfully scared Prof. Knighton would get hurt.

NOV. 28-DEC. 5. Gen. Sup't. Powers held our fall revival this week, and everything else was secondary to the revival services. His dynamic messages brought each one of us closer to the Master and conscious of a better life.

DEC. 11. Tonight the Speech Department presented "Cecilia" and I thought Joanne Burkhart did an exceptional job at portraying the saint. I even cried when they sent her to prison. Wonder if I'll ever be in a play?

DEC. 12. One of the most thrilling events of my school life happened tonight. The Philharmonic Choral Society presented the "Messiah" and it was simply beautiful. Two hundred and fifty voices singing Handel's Hallelujah Chorus is enough to make anyone stand to his feet. Next year I think I'll sign up for Philharmonic.

DEC. 14. When I finally got all my clothes packed and decided which hat to take home I realized Christmas vacation was really here. And me without my Christmas shopping done. Oh well, pop's got more shekles than I. See you January 4, 1949.

JAN 5. Well I'm back in the old groove again and I'll have to admit that it did seem good to get back. I think my boy friend was even glad to see me. Anyway he asked me for a date to the basketball game Friday nite with B.J.C.

JAN. 24. Always at a time like this I remind myself not to seek after higher education. These professors can give some final exams that are "stinkers."

JAN. 31. I'm beginning to feel like a veteran at this registering business now. Even the standing in line doesn't seem as bad as last time. (I only had to soak my feet two hours tonight.)

FEB. 11. You know, that Dr. Chalfant is about the most unique person I've ever seen. Everyone got such a big kick out of him and yet his messages made us realize that religion is a practical and working experience.

FEB. 25. Homecoming Week is over now and all the excitement and activity that goes with it is past. It was fun seeing all the alumni around the campus. Wonder what I'll think of N.N.C. in ten or fifteen years?

MAR. 1. "Queen for a Day" that's Joanne Burkhart. I was so thrilled tonight at the Tip Off game when she was crowned I nearly cried. And Nancy Knighton and Buddy McGraw looked just like miniatures as they led the procession. All the princesses were so pretty in their white formals and red corsages that I wished for a minute that I were beautiful instead of "brainy."

MAR. 27-APR. 3. Rev. John Neilson, New England evangelist, held our spring revival. It wasn't hard to leave my studies to go hear him. His challenging messages and the stirring altar services left me deeply grateful that I was a Christian.

APR. 5. Life became a vicious circle of mops and pails and brooms as everyone dressed in old clothes to give the campus a thorough cleaning. I only complained once and that was when I had to dig the leaves out of an irrigation ditch. Then I longed for a window-washing job.

APR. 8. Was I proud to be in the A Cappella Choir as we climbed into the Greyhound bus and started on our way! The Male Chorus left today, too, for its annual spring tour. Everyone said I kept my eyes glued to the window but I didn't want to miss a single thing. Living is so much fun.

APR. 22. The swishing of beautiful formals and the smell of gardenias and roses were characteristic of the annual Junior-Senior banquet which was held tonight in Boise. I guess they had an awfully nice time. Anyway, my roommate came home terribly late.

MAY 9. The seniors donned their caps and gowns today for Senior Investiture. In spite of the happy environment, there was an undercurrent of solemnity. I snuggled down into my seat admiring the seniors, but I knew their triumph was bittersweet.

MAY 29. It seems that Baccalaureate Sunday marks the beginning of the end. It was a thrilling sight to see the seniors march into the auditorium to hear Dr. Corlett's challenging address.

JUNE 1. What a day! There was nothing but hustle and bustle as seniors prepared for commencement exercises. I'll have to admit a lump came into my throat when the seniors marched down the aisle. They looked proud, but a little sad. I'm glad I have three more years to go. N.N.C. is a wonderful place!

STUDENT FACULTY RECEPTION

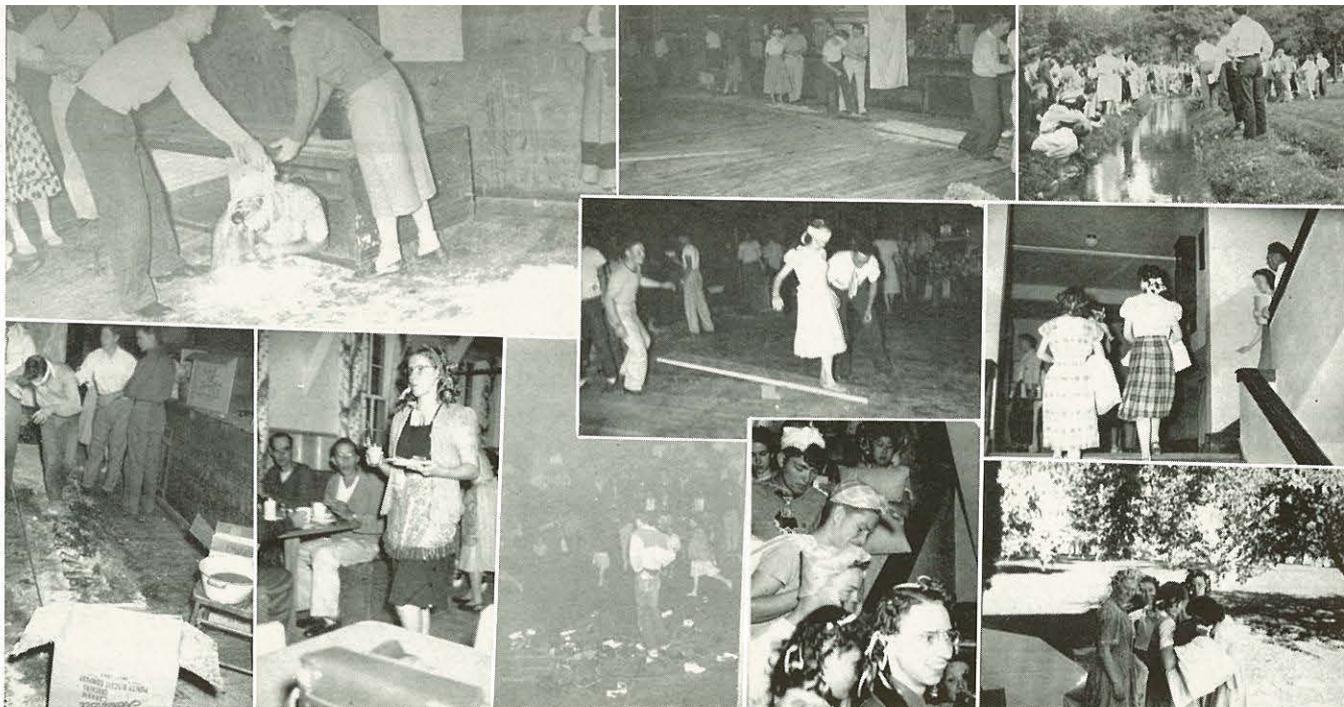

"How do you do? and What's the name?"
Oh, that never-ending reception line!"

"Little Lize, I love ya"
Relax, it's over!"

The swish of formals—boys with corsage boxes—familiar background music—traditional toasts. So another Student-Faculty Reception introduced another year at N.N.C. The theme, "The Curtain Rises" was symbolic. It was the beginning of a new life for the new students, with a clean slate and an equal chance to make good. The first formal event of the year introduced the social life of our college, and provided an opportunity for students to meet and renew old acquaintances. Lavishly decorated for the occasion the dining hall beamed upon its guests, happy to have its halls and rooms again filled with the chatter and confusion of another school year.

FRESHMAN INITIATION

The mighty sophomores showed a great talent in their search for revenge this year. We didn't know they were so clever and original or shall we say just plain mean? Regardless they succeeded in making the newcomers to the Campus realize their inferiority besides providing a great deal of fun for all.

BIG AND LITTLE SISTER TEA

At the beginning of each year the A.W.S. sponsors a tea to acquaint the new girls with the school and the rest of the girls. This year it was held in Morrison Hall parlor and proved to be a terrific success. Here we see Mrs. Taylor and Marieta Lee "pouring" while Mary Jo Ousterhout and Juanita Anderson try to decide between tea or coffee.

HALLOWE'EN

One of the big events of the year was the Hallowe'en party held in the gym. Everyone had a hilarious time watching ghosts, mummies, and many Mother Goose characters parading in front of the judges in hopes of being the proud possessors of the prize. Again this year Hadley Hall was the setting for the house of horrors with many groans and terrified screams bursting forth from the basement. Ah, yes, college students are still "kids" when October 31 rolls around.

THANKSGIVING

Things start off with a bang at the Turkey Bowl game!
Turkey and all the trimmings disappear quickly.

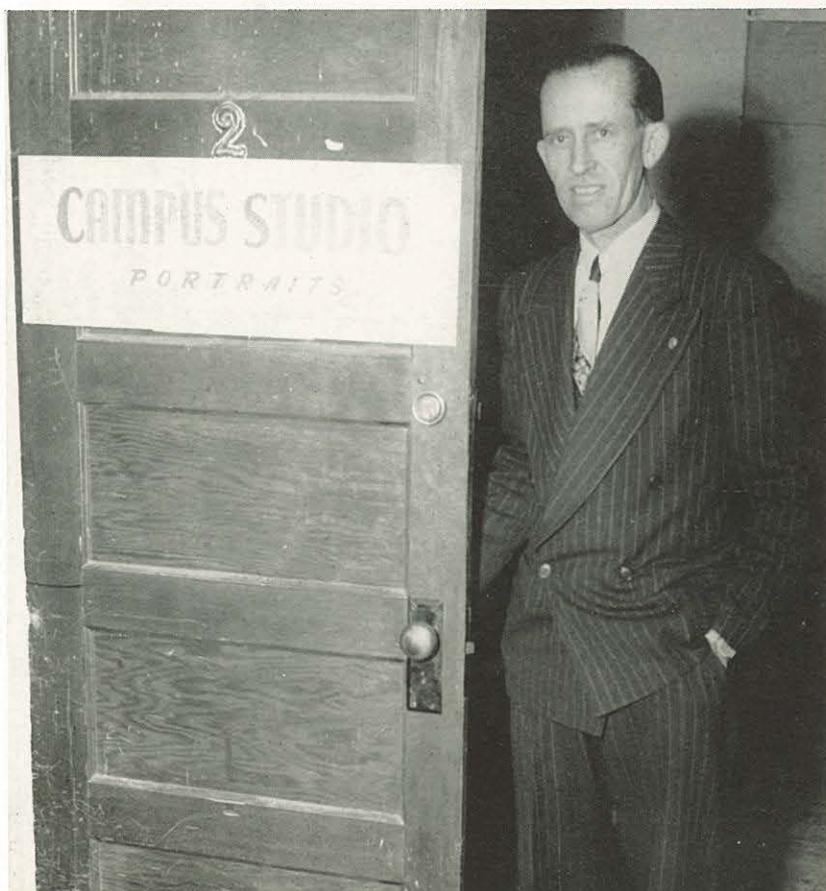

Toastmaster Pete.
Mr. Johnson's joking again.

Thanksgiving is always a time for relaxation and fun at N.N.C. In the morning the day's activities begin with the annual Turkey Bowl game, which was played out at the Nampa Hi football field this year, and then there is a period of scurrying home to "spruce up" for the big event. Mr. Thompson and his crew certainly outdid themselves this year to make the day seem just like the ones spent at home. This year the theme was "Thank You, America" and it was very beautifully portrayed through song and speech. Mr. Johnson brought to our attention the blessings we have and enjoy here in America.

CHRISTMAS

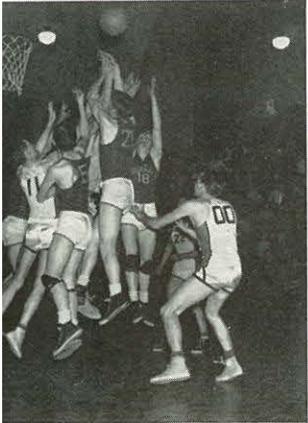

Christmas comes to N.N.C. in many forms, the Messiah, the A.W.S. Christmas party, the College Church Candlelight service, and oh, so many sleigh rides and ice-skating parties, until everyone is all set for vacation. Nearly every club and organization on the campus has some form of celebration until the spirit of the Yuletide season is widely felt at N.N.C.

OUR PHOTOGRAPHER

At the campus studio we are greeted by the friendly smile of our photographer. It has been our privilege for the past two years to have one of our own alumni for the Oasis photographer.

Mr. Carr is well known in the state of Idaho as an expert in his field. When he comes to N.N.C., in home style, he is just Frank.

TIP OFF

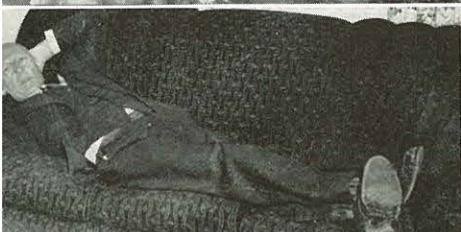

Tip Off was a big night this year, with the coronation of Queen Joanne Burkhart. Nancy Knighton and Buddy McGraw led the procession, followed by the princesses and her majesty the Queen. A reception was held after the game in honor of Joanne and her court.

ALL STUDENT PICNIC

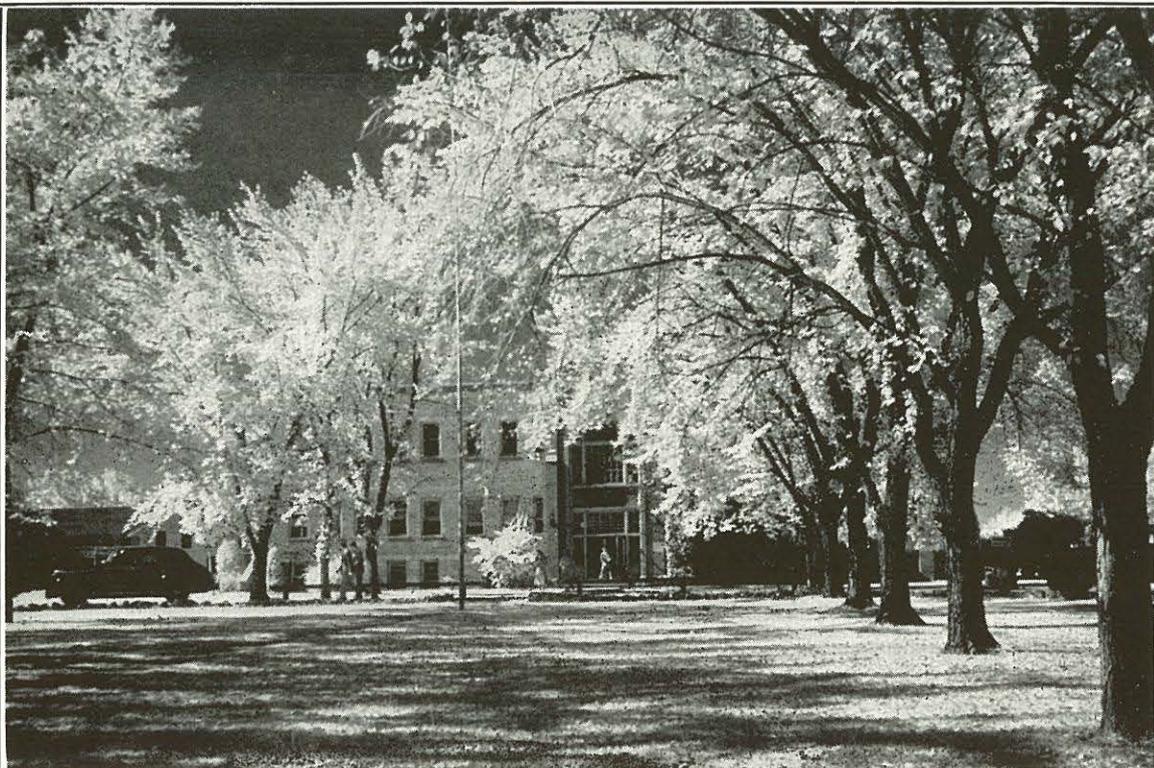

The day of "fun, frolic and freedom" at N.N.C. is the date of the All School Picnic, when the entire student body retreats to the hills for a good time.

CAMPUS DAY

Each spring the time rolls around for Campus Day when students and faculty alike desert their scholastic duties for a day of hard manual labor of working on the campus. Washing windows, cleaning ditches, painting, and many other jobs keep everyone busy for the morning, and the afternoon usually includes two ballgames and a wiener roast in Kurtz Park. The day's activities are rounded out by a party in the gym that night.

To help you teach that church school class
To aid in living for the things that last.

WE EXPRESS OUR APPRECIATION—

TO OUR COMMERCIAL ADVERTISERS . . .

Through the accomplishment of this, the 1949 Oasis, we have discovered our commercial friends to be enthusiastic and loyal supporters of N. N. C. Their support through ads and contributions have largely made this publication possible. Those whom you have found listed in this section represent the best in quality and service—many thanks to these business firms and their leaders. Let us show our appreciation by making their places of business our first stop.

TO OUR CHURCH AND DISTRICT ADVERTISERS . . .

Northwest Nazarene College feels that its greatest asset is its endowment by the churches on the Northwest Educational Zone. We feel that your response to our advertising section is one more expression of your interest and loyalty. To a great extent the spirit that pervades the Zone controls the spirit on our campus, but in a fuller sense we feel that the calibre of the product we are turning out from year to year sets the spiritual tone for our denomination. In this Oasis we have endeavored to present a survey of this year's activities for your evaluation. We measure your interest in us through your response to our calls for help, and in turn we proudly present you with this, our record. You, our parents and friends, have not disappointed us and by God's help we shall not fail you. We take this opportunity to say thank you, and God bless you.

TO OUR PHOTOGRAPHER . . .

This year, we as a college, have felt especially privileged to have for our photographer a man who is more than a business associate; he is a personal friend and an alumnus. He and Mrs. Carr have devotedly given their professional skill to make this annual the best possible photographically. Their humble Christ-like self-forgetfulness has served as a living testimony that Christianity is not divorced from business. Your lives have blessed us all. We say thank you and God richly bless you.

TO OUR PRINTERS . . .

Throughout the pages of this book you find displayed the best in yearbook production. It represents years of study, evaluation, and continual progress. We want you to feel that this high type production is more than a summation of set goals and standards; for it is a monumental tribute to life's perspective, a needful and lasting contribution to society. To the management and workers of Caxton Printers and Western Engravers, who have guided us to this final destination, we say a heartfelt thanks.
